THOUSANDS BATTLE POLICE AS CRY OF REVOLT IS RAISED

Citizens Flee to Cover and Shopkeepers Bolt Doors as Mounted Police Charge to Break Up Vicious Free-for-All Fights—40,000 Workers Walk Out in Protest Against 'Police Brutality'—Dragnet Spread for Communist Agitators.

MADRID, Nov. 15—(AP)—An emergency cabinet meeting today ordered military protection for light, water, gas and food services. It was unofficially believed that it would proclaim martial law if necessary to deal with serious labor riots.

Soldiers were ordered to various public service plants and military trucks were directed to transport bread.

MADRID, Nov. 15—(AP)—Rioting strikers battled with police in the streets today, smashing shop windows, overturning trolley cars and raising the cry of revolution.

Heads were cracked and faces slashed as mounted police charged time after time to break up vicious free-for-all fights. No one was reported killed.

Forty thousand construction and metal workers walked out this morning in protest against "police brutality" in breaking up a major riot yesterday.

Newspaper Linotypers and pressmen struck in sympathy and there will be no papers today or tomorrow. All public service workers joined the strike. Five thousand university students reinforced the rioters.

Food Stalls Overturned.

Food stalls in the central market were overturned and their produce ruined when the venders hesitated to throw in their lot with the strikers. Labor organizers were attempting to force the bakers to quit, but so far there was no bread shortage.

All this started two days ago when a building collapsed and killed four construction workers. At the funeral services yesterday what started out to be a peaceful protest against the erection of flimsy buildings which endangered the lives of workmen turned into a riot of major proportions in which three persons were killed and about seventy-five wounded or otherwise injured.

Citizens Desert Streets.

When the rioting broke out anew today the citizenry ran to cover. Shopkeepers bolted their doors and barred their windows and the busy streets of Madrid were deserted except where the fighting was most serious.

The city council called an emergency session to consider the food supply, and decided that Madrid could live for fifteen days on what she had.

Authorities blame communist agitators for the trouble and threw out a dragnet to bring in leaders whom they charged with inflaming the workers to revolution.

HUSKERS, TIGERS FAIL TO SCORE IN FIRST HALF

Drizzling Rain Makes Handling of Ball Difficult.

By GREGG M'BRIDE.

Nebraska and Missouri, traditional rivals over a period of some 38 years, renewed their football argument at Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon. The Cornhuskers and Tigers clashed in the presence of a Homecoming day crowd of more than 16,000, a number of old grads returning for the game.

Contrary to early weather reports, the game was staged under good playing conditions, a brisk wind being the only factor bothering the athletes.

Winner of the Saturday game will be granted possession of the victory bell for the period of a year. The bell Saturday was on the Nebraska side of the field, the Cornhuskers having regained possession of the trophy by virtue of a 24-0 victory in 1928 and retained ownership by playing the Tigers to a 7-7 tie at Columbia last fall.

Before the game the Nebraska band marched around the field followed by a company of cadets and a firing squad. Following the squad was a group of sixteen Tassels carrying a service flag. The ceremony is an annual affair carried out before the Homecoming game in honor of the Nebraska soldier dead. While the crowd stood with bared heads the firing squad fired three rounds followed by taps.

The Nebraska squad was the first on the field. The Missouri squad appeared about ten minutes before game time. Coach Bible shifted his starting lineup to include Chick Justice at right guard in place of Elmer Greenberg.

The opening lineups:

Missouri had the ball on the Nebraska 49-yard line.

A double pass behind the line and a forward pass from Van Dyne to Bittner was good for a first down on the Nebraska 34-yard line. Another forward pass from VanDyne was incomplete. It was a long forward pass to Campbell, the latter apparently muffing the catch. Campbell was almost on the goal line.

A short pass, VanDyne to Collings was good for sixteen yards and a first down on the Nebraska 18-yard line.

DO-X ARRIVES SAFELY AT HER BORDEAUX GOAL

Giant Plane Completes Third Lap After a Forced Landing.

BORDEAUX, France, Nov. 15—(AP)—The giant German seaplane alighted at Gauriac in the Gironde estuary, thirty miles northwest of Bordeaux, this afternoon.

The big seaplane, which made a forced landing along the French coast last night, resumed its interrupted flight to Bordeaux at 11:55 a. m. The weather was misty and the plane flew low throughout the trip this morning.

After passing Royan, at the mouth of the Gironde estuary, the Do-X suddenly swerved southeast and entered the mouth of the river. It was flying low at a speed of about seventy miles an hour and made a perfect descent on the water where the Garonne melts into the Gironde river.

The huge plane, after circling twice skimmed the surface of the river for three or four hundred yards and then came to a halt.

An officer on the bridge signalled: "All well."

Forced Down by Darkness.

LA ROCHELLE, France, Nov. 15—(AP)—C. H. Schildhauer, American pilot of the DO-X, coming ashore here today to arrange for refueling before proceeding to Bordeaux said that the plane had been forced to alight short of its goal yesterday and taxi to La Rochelle because of the fast approaching darkness. He denied that anything was wrong with the plane's motors.

Some of the passengers of the DO-X said that four motors were coughing" at the time the plane was forced to descend. Schildhauer said: "We alighted off the Vendee coast at 5:25 p. m., and then taxied over 100 miles to reach this spot where we anchored at 10:20 p. m. No, nothing was wrong with the motors.

FORTUNE IN STONES STOLEN FROM LOS ANGELES MERCHANT

Soft Spoken Young Man, Who Wanted to "Buy a Diamond," Sought by Police After Daring Holdup in Downtown Jeweler's Private Office—Jewels Worth $200,000 Left Untouched — Silk-Gloved Chicago Bandits Make $80,000 Haul.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15—(AP)—A soft spoken young man who wanted to "buy a diamond" was hunted by police today for the $300,000 robbery of a downtown jeweler's private office.

The gem merchant, M. C. Reingold, was in a hospital suffering lacerations of the head. He was beaten into unconsciousness, bound and gagged with adhesive tape by the robber yesterday after he had been induced to display some of the most precious gems he possessed.

The robber escaped with a remark designed to allay any suspicions aroused among employes in an outer office and it was not until Reingold had regained his senses and began kicking on the floor that they learned of the holdup.

Gems worth $200,000 were left untouched. The loss was covered by insurance.

Daring Chicago Holdup.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—(AP)—Three silk-gloved bandits who, Jack Salter, New York diamond salesman said stole $80,000 worth of gems from him in a daring loop robbery, were sought today.

Salter said he was cleaning the jewels yesterday which he brought here to sell for his father, Norbert Salter, New York, and another dealer, when the trio armed with pistols surprised him in his hotel room.

He told police he was bound to a chair, the bed and a radiator, and that a chloroform-soaked gag was forced into his mouth. Several hours later, when other hotel guests heard his call for help, hotel employes released him.

Salter said the stones were insured for $50,000.

STATE WINS IN $100,000 SUIT

Supreme Court Denies Rehearing in Action By Contractors.

Refusing a rehearing of a suit of Peterson, Shirley & Guenther against the state of Nebraska in which it attempted to collect nearly $100,000 claimed due on unpaid road contracts, the Supreme court Saturday closed a case which caused state and private attorneys months of litigation both before and after the legislature granted the contractors permission to sue.

The case, which represented eight claims against the state, was tried in the Lancaster county District court where Judge Chappell held for the state on its claim that the contractors had signed a receipt in full. The Supreme court sustained his decision Saturday, it denied the contractors' motion for a rehearing.

The court granted a reargument, Saturday, in three cases affecting the Calumet Irrigation district which had been consolidated and heard together. The suits are a controversy as to the validity of warrants issued by the irrigation district before the Supreme court held the district itself invalid.

The case is to be reargued before

YOUTHS RECOVER STOLEN REGISTER

Grocery Store Machine Worth $300 Found Under Culvert.

An electric cash register, stolen from the Piggly Wiggly store, 2764 South street, on the night of November 7 was found under a culvert east of Lincoln Friday afternoon and turned over to Deputy Sheriff Hulfish at the county jail. Ervine and Everett Collins, 1952 T street, shucking corn near the culvert, found the register. They turned it over to their father, Frank Collins, who brought the machine in to the jail.

A valuation of approximately $300 is placed upon the register. At the time it was stolen it contained only a few pennies and a $5 check. Entrance to the store was gained through a rear door.

When found the register had been broken open. The pennies were gone, but the check still remained. The culvert under which it was discovered is about three and a quarter miles east of the store and is described as the first culvert south of South street off the pavement.

FLAMES DAMAGE JACOBS' STORE

Electric Iron Starts Blaze in Rear of Building.

Fire early Saturday morning gutted the interior of the F. B. Jacobs store, 4200 South Fourteenth street. Firemen said that the blaze was started by an electric iron, which had been left attached.

The blaze originated in the rear of the store, where the family maintained living quarters. The flames had gained such headway when firemen arrived at the first alarm, received shortly after 2:30 o'clock, that a second alarm was turned in ten minutes later.

Most of the stock, household furnishings and clothing was destroyed or damaged badly by the flames. The interior of the building suffered some damage. Dr. A. L. Bixby is the owner of the frame structure. No estimate of the damage was available early Saturday morning.

HUSKERS, TIGERS FAIL TO SCORE IN FIRST HALF

Drizzling Rain Makes Handling of Ball Difficult.

By GREGG M'BRIDE.

Nebraska and Missouri, traditional rivals over a period of some 38 years, renewed their football argument at Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon. The Cornhuskers and Tigers clashed in the presence of a Homecoming day crowd of more than 16,000, a number of old grads returning for the game.

Contrary to early weather reports, the game was staged under good playing conditions, a brisk wind being the only factor bothering the athletes.

Winner of the Saturday game will be granted possession of the victory bell for the period of a year. The bell Saturday was on the Nebraska side of the field, the Cornhuskers having regained possession of the trophy by virtue of a 24-0 victory in 1928 and retained ownership by playing the Tigers to a 7-7 tie at Columbia last fall.

Before the game the Nebraska band marched around the field followed by a company of cadets and a firing squad. Following the squad was a group of sixteen Tassels carrying a service flag. The ceremony is an annual affair carried out before the Homecoming game in honor of the Nebraska soldier dead. While the crowd stood with bared heads the firing squad fired three rounds followed by taps.

The Nebraska squad was the first on the field. The Missouri squad appeared about ten minutes before game time. Coach Bible shifted his starting lineup to include Chick Justice at right guard in place of Elmer Greenberg.

DO-X ARRIVES SAFELY AT HER BORDEAUX GOAL

Giant Plane Completes Third Lap After a Forced Landing.

BORDEAUX, France, Nov. 15—(AP)—The giant German seaplane alighted at Gauriac in the Gironde estuary, thirty miles northwest of Bordeaux, this afternoon.

The big seaplane, which made a forced landing along the French coast last night, resumed its interrupted flight to Bordeaux at 11:55 a. m. The weather was misty and the plane flew low throughout the trip this morning.

After passing Royan, at the mouth of the Gironde estuary, the Do-X suddenly swerved southeast and entered the mouth of the river. It was flying low at a speed of about seventy miles an hour and made a perfect descent on the water where the Garonne melts into the Gironde river.

The huge plane, after circling twice skimmed the surface of the river for three or four hundred yards and then came to a halt.

An officer on the bridge signalled: "All well."

Forced Down by Darkness.

LA ROCHELLE, France, Nov. 15—(AP)—C. H. Shildhauer, American pilot of the DO-X, coming ashore here today to arrange for refueling before proceeding to Bordeaux said that the plane had been forced to alight short of its goal yesterday and taxi to La Rochelle because of the fast approaching darkness. He denied that anything was wrong with the plane's motors.

Some of the passengers of the DO-X said that 'four motors were coughing" at the time the plane was forced to descend. Schildhauer said: "We alighted off the Vendee coast at 5:25 p. m., and then taxied over 100 miles to reach this spot where we anchored at 10:20 p. m. No, nothing was wrong with the motors.

FORTUNE IN STONES STOLEN FROM LOS ANGELES MERCHANT

Soft Spoken Young Man, Who Wanted to "Buy a Diamond," Sought by Police After Daring Holdup in Downtown Jeweler's Private Office—Jewels Worth $200,000 Left Untouched — Silk-Gloved Chicago Bandits Make $80,000 Haul.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15—(AP)—A soft spoken young man who wanted to "buy a diamond" was hunted by police today for the $300,000 robbery of a downtown jeweler's private office.

The gem merchant, M. C. Reingold, was in a hospital suffering lacerations of the head. He was beaten into unconsciousness, bound and gagged with adhesive tape by the robber yesterday after he had been induced to display some of the most precious gems he possessed.

The robber escaped with a remark designed to allay any suspicions aroused among employes in an outer office and it was not until Reingold had regained his senses and began kicking on the floor that they learned of the holdup.

Gems worth $200,000 were left untouched. The loss was covered by insurance.

Daring Chicago Holdup.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—(AP)—Three silk-gloved bandits who, Jack Salter, New York diamond salesman said stole $80,000 worth of gems from him in a daring loop robbery, were sought today.

Salter said he was cleaning the jewels yesterday which he brought here to sell for his father, Norbert Salter, New York, and another dealer, when the trio armed with pistols surprised him in his hotel room.

He told police he was bound to a chair, the bed and a radiator, and that a chloroform-soaked gag was forced into his mouth. Several hours later, when other hotel guests heard his call for help, hotel employes released him.

Salter said the stones were insured for $50,000.

STATE WINS IN $100,000 SUIT

Supreme Court Denies Rehearing in Action By Contractors.

Refusing a rehearing of a suit of Peterson, Shirley & Guenther against the state of Nebraska in which it attempted to collect nearly $100,000 claimed due on unpaid road contracts, the Supreme court Saturday closed a case which caused state and private attorneys months of litigation both before and after the legislature granted the contractors permission to sue.

The case, which represented eight claims against the state, was tried in the Lancaster county District court where Judge Chappell held for the state on its claim that the contractors had signed a receipt in full. The Supreme court sustained his decision Saturday, it denied the contractors' motion for a rehearing.

The court granted a reargument, Saturday, in three cases affecting the Calumet Irrigation district which had been consolidated and heard together. The suits are a controversy as to the validity of warrants issued by the irrigation district before the Supreme court held the district itself invalid.

The case is to be reargued before

YOUTHS RECOVER STOLEN REGISTER

Grocery Store Machine Worth $300 Found Under Culvert.

An electric cash register, stolen from the Piggly Wiggly store, 2764 South street, on the night of November 7 was found under a culvert east of Lincoln Friday afternoon and turned over to Deputy Sheriff Hulfish at the county jail. Ervine and Everett Collins, 1952 T street, shucking corn near the culvert, found the register. They turned it over to their father, Frank Collins, who brought the machine in to the jail.

A valuation of approximately $300 is placed upon the register. At the time it was stolen it contained only a few pennies and a $5 check. Entrance to the store was gained through a rear door.

When found the register had been broken open. The pennies were gone, but the check still remained. The culvert under which it was discovered is about three and a quarter miles east of the store and is described as the first culvert south of South street off the pavement.

Our Earth Is Old
You Shall Not Sell
Marvelous Cow Machine
Copper Common Sense

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Your temporary abode, the earth, according to Dr. Kovarik, learned physicist of Yale, is far older than 6,000 years, once the accepted age.

The real age, calculated with remarkable accuracy, based on the gradual disintegration of radio active substances, is 1,852,000,000 years. That seems a long time to our feeble minds, but is less than a second in the eye of Father Time.

It is interesting to learn from Prof. Osborne, of the Natural History museum, that men have been living on earth not for 6,000 years, but for 40,000,000 years. And it is particularly encouraging to know that the life of our earth and our human life on it, which depends on the life of the sun, will last for many more billions of years.

Within 12,000 years men have moved up from the late stone age, with its sharp flints and bows and arrows, to this age of flying machines, wireless and submarines.

If men have done that in 12,000 years, what will they accomplish in the next 1,000,000,000 years?

In that time, we might even stop murdering each other in war, swindling and oppressing each other in peace.

The government has said that California grape growers may legally sell the juice of grapes concentrated or otherwise, provided they sell it before alcohol develops.

The grape growers are not held responsible for the laws of nature, which seem to have no sympathy with prohibition and turn innocent grape juice into wine, as the water was turned at the marriage feast of old.

But what suits the national government, according to news from California and Chicago, does not suit the distinguished gangsters that enjoy a monopoly of bootleg whisky and beer selling in Chicago.

Manufacturers of grape juice expected to sell great quantities in Chicago, the buyers to wait for nature to take its course and change the juice into wine.

But that cut down the demand for "needled" beer and "bathtub" whisky and gin. California's manufacturers of grape juice are told in plain simple English by the head gangsters:

"If you try to sell any of that stuff in Chicago, somebody is going to be killed."

Farmers are interested in the "rotolactor" or "cow-milking revolving table" used by the Walker Gordon Co. in New Jersey. The cow walks onto a big table, which revolves slowly and continuously as a moving staircase. Entering her stall on the table, the cow is washed clean and milked dry by machinery in 12 minutes, walks off the table, which holds 50 cows at a time, and goes back to her business of eating food and turning it into milk.

That is applying industrial methods to farming. Groups of farmers could own such a table co-operatively, producing certified milk much more cheaply than the ordinary germ laden milk can be produced by the farmer moving his milking stool from cow to cow in a dirty, dusty barn.

The copper companies, wisely, agree to stop cutting each other's throats by producing more copper than the world can use, thus demoralizing prices, which fall below cost of production, demoralizing employment.

Results are already seen in a stabilized market and copper selling at 11 cents, an improvement, although far below normal.

It is taken for granted that the government will not object to the arrangement or insist that producers shall continue reckless competition.

A more important question is this.

Will the companies hold together? Will copper men be able to do what the oil men vainly tried to do?

One mine can produce copper at half or two-thirds the production cost of another mine. One mine will have its copper cost reduced by a large silver by-product.

Will the more fortunate mines be content with their share of business and not try to get more by cutting which they can afford and others can't afford?

George Eastman, intelligent, leading citizen of Rochester, N. Y., makes millions rapidly and gives them away usefully.

To the city of Paris he has offered $1,000,000 to build a dental clinic for school children under 16 years old.

No more useful gift could be devised.

France is backward in dentistry, compared with America, and nothing is more important than the care of teeth in childhood, neglected, unfortunately, in the case of millions of American children.

Mummers Society Gives 'The Enemy'

Channing Pollock's famous four-act war drama, "The Enemy," was capably presented before a capacity house at the Lincoln high school auditorium Friday evening by the Mummers, high school dramatic society.

Action of the play is laid in turbulent Vienna and its purpose, in the words of William Dean Howells is "to show how like ourselves were creatures we should have called contemptible: how like ourselves they thought and felt, and how they regarded us: and so to show us ourselves through their eyes."

Barbara Bates as Pauli Arndt, showed remarkable strength and restraint in emotional scenes that would have taxed the powers of a much more experienced actress. Pauli marries Carl Behrend, the son of a militaristic Austrian grain raiser, on the strength of his ability as a writer. Dramatic sequences develop as the marriage is tested when Carl heeds the call to arms.

Carl is played by Dwight Perkins and the father, August Behrend, by Irving Hill, who both portray their characters faithfully and effectively.

Excellent work is accomplished by Charles Steadman, in the role of Fritz Winckelman. Helen Lawrence as Mizzi Winckelman, Robert Pearce as Jan and Alfred Norling as Dr. Arndt. Ruth Weaver as Baruska the buxom peasant girl who serves the Arndts as maid, contributes the only comedy touch to a play which abounds in suspense and tragedy. She was able to keep an appreciate audience in laughter whenever she held the stage. The part of Kurt, son of the Winckelmans, was played by Jack Rokahr, an eight year old Capitol school lad, drafted by the Mummers for the role.

Considerable praise was received by Miss Frances McChesney for her direction of the play which required an extra degree of interpretation. Miss McChesney and Miss Annetia Sprung as sponsors of the Mummers and Harold Soderlund is president.

The cast:

Carl Behrend	Dwight Perkins
Pauli Arndt	Barbara Bates
Baruska	Ruth Weaver
Bruce Gordon	Fred Fairchild
August Behrend	Irving Hill
Jan	Robert Pierce
Dr. Arndt	Alfred Norling
Mizzi Winckelman	Helen Lawrence

CROWD ATTENDS HUSKER RALLY

Between five and seven thousand University of Nebraska students and football fans greeted the University of Missouri football team and Tiger followers Friday night at the largest football rally staged here since the rally for the Notre Dame game of 1925.

Gathering first at the University drill field a giant bonfire, forty feet across and thirty feet high, said to be the largest bonfire ever attempted at the Cornhusker school, was lighted. Led by the R. O. T. C. band, the student body marched through the downtown section to the Lincoln hotel where it greeted Coach Gwinn Henry and his Tigers and Coach Bible and the Huskers.

Coach Bible said that the demonstration was the finest he had ever seen. Although he did not predict a victory for Nebraska he said that the team would accept the challenge offered by the student body as exemplified in the rally and would not disappoint them or the returning alumni.

Coach Gwinn Henry of Missouri said that he realized that Nebraska had a better team than he did, but that the best team does not always win. "I would rather beat Nebraska than any other team in the country because when Missouri beats Nebraska that means something," Henry said

Captain McGirl of the Missouri Tigers said that since he had been playing football that his one ambition was to beat Nebraska and that he and the entire team would try to make this wish come true Saturday afternoon. Bob Young, game captain for the Cornhuskers, assured the Husker followers that they would not be disappointed in the outcome of the game.

The traditional bell, which is presented to the school winning the annual Tiger-Husker clash, was displayed from the balcony of the hotel during the rally. Should Missouri win Saturday afternoon the bell will be in its possession for the first time.

A homecoming atmosphere prevailed on the entire campus Friday night and Saturday morning. Hundreds of old grads were arriving by auto, train and plane for the week-end festivities. Fraternity and sorority houses were gaily decorated welcoming back the old grads and the Missouri followers.

Nearly all Greek letter organizations have planned banquets or parties for their returning alumni for Saturday evening Thirty-three fraternities and sororities are holding parties at their homes while three fraternities are holding fall parties at downtown hotels. Sororities are planning luncheons, dinners and house parties for their guests.

Our Earth Is Old

Marvelous Cow Machine
Copper Common Sense

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Your temporary abode, the earth, according to Dr. Kovarik, learned physicist of Yale, is far older than 6,000 years, once the accepted age.

The real age, calculated with remarkable accuracy, based on the gradual disintegration of radio active substances, is 1,852,000,000 years. That seems a long time to our feeble minds, but is less than a second in the eye of Father Time.

It is interesting to learn from Prof. Osborne, of the Natural History museum, that men have been living on earth not for 6,000 years, but for 40,000,000 years. And it is particularly encouraging to know that the life of our earth and our human life on it, which depends on the life of the sun, will last for many more billions of years.

Within 12,000 years men have moved up from the late stone age, with its sharp flints and bows and arrows, to this age of flying machines, wireless and submarines.

If men have done that in 12,000 years, what will they accomplish in the next 1,000,000,000 years?

In that time, we might even stop murdering each other in war, swindling and oppressing each other in peace.

The government has said that California grape growers may legally sell the juice of grapes, concentrated or otherwise, provided they sell it before alcohol develops.

The grape growers are not held responsible for the laws of nature, which seem to have no sympathy with prohibition and turn innocent grape juice into wine, as the water was turned at the marriage feast of old.

But what suits the national government, according to news from California and Chicago, does not suit the distinguished gangsters that enjoy a monopoly of bootleg whisky and beer selling in Chicago.

Manufacturers of grape juice expected to sell great quantities in Chicago, the buyers to wait for nature to take its course and change the juice into wine.

But that cut down the demand for "needled" beer and "bathtub" whisky and gin. California's manufacturers of grape juice are told in plain simple English by the head gangsters:

"If you try to sell any of that stuff in Chicago, somebody is going to be killed."

Farmers are interested in the "rotolactor" or "cow-milking revolving table" used by the Walker Gordon Co. in New Jersey. The cow walks onto a big table, which revolves slowly and continuously as a moving staircase. Entering her stall on the table, the cow is washed clean and milked dry by machinery in 12 minutes, walks off the table, which holds 50 cows at a time, and goes back to her business of eating food and turning it into milk.

That is applying industrial methods to farming. Groups of farmers could own such a table co-operatively, producing certified milk much more cheaply than the ordinary germ laden milk can be produced by the farmer moving his milking stool from cow to cow in a dirty, dusty barn.

The copper companies, wisely, agree to stop cutting each other's throats by producing more copper than the world can use, thus demoralizing prices, which fall below cost of production, demoralizing employment.

Results are already seen in a stabilized market and copper selling at 11 cents, an improvement, although far below normal.

It is taken for granted that the government will not object to the arrangement or insist that producers shall continue reckless competition.

A more important question is this.

Will the companies hold together? Will copper men be able to do what the oil men vainly tried to do?

One mine can produce copper at half or two-thirds the production cost of another mine. One mine will have its copper cost reduced by a large silver by-product.

Will the more fortunate mines be content with their share of business and not try to get more by cutting which they can afford and others can't afford?

George Eastman, intelligent, leading citizen of Rochester, N. Y., makes millions rapidly and gives them away usefully.

To the city of Paris he has offered $1,000,000 to build a dental clinic for school children under 16 years old.

No more useful gift could be devised.

France is backward in dentistry, compared with America, and nothing is more important than the care of teeth in childhood, neglected, unfortunately, in the case of millions of American children.

The floral style show held at the Coliseum Friday night was attended by many. The bridal parties and models who displayed various bouquets and corsages played to an appreciative audience. Miss Jean Swift of Hollywood presented two dance numbers. The program was opened by the Burlington railroad band.

The show was a huge success, officials said. Grover Long, secretary-treasurer of the society, said: "We are happy over the success and results of the show and we are sure that the public has received a closer understanding of flowers and their place in the home."

POLICEMAN DIES ASHLAND CRASH

Omaha Man Killed When Car Forced Into Ditch.

Wife Also in Serious Condition Following Wreck.

ASHLAND, Neb., Nov. 15—(AP)—Charles Whalen, Omaha policeman, was killed almost instantly near here early this morning when his automobile, containing himself, wife and two children, went into a ditch. A speeding car passed Whalen's forcing him over to the side of the road. The car did not stop.

Mrs. Whalen and the two children were injured, the woman so badly that an ambulance was required to bring her into Ashland for medical attention. Her condition is serious. The children's injuries were less severe.

The Whalen family had left Omaha this morning and was driving to Liberty, Neb., to spend the day with relatives.

Whalen had been an Omaha policeman for eighteen years. Four daughters survive, one of them being married and living in Omaha.

The accident occurred two and a half miles south of Gretna and the injured and dead lay beside the road for an hour and a half before they were seen and cared for. Whalen, his wife and one of the girls were pinned beneath the car. His skull was crushed and he died instantly. Mrs. Whalen's back was broken and she sustained internal injuries.

Credit Men Retain Meyer as Secretary

State Organization Also Re-elects Fred Yanders of North Platte As President.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Nov. 15—(AP)—The convention of the Associated Credit Bureaus of Nebraska was brought to a close late Friday afternoon with the unanimous re-election of Fred W. Yanders, North Platte, as president.

Other officers named were: V. D. Hustead, Lincoln, vice president, to succeed Arthur Varah, Hastings; Max Meyer, Lincoln, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

An amendment to the by-laws, making it compulsory for each credit bureau member to affiliate with the service department of the National Retail Credit association, was unanimously adopted. A considerable portion of the afternoon session was taken up by a round table discussion led by Roy B. Ford, Lincoln attorney and lobbyist for the State Credit association, relative to legislative action in which the state credit group is interested.

Ford urged the organization of local bureaus, with prominent local men in charge, so that pressure could be brought to bear on legislators when occasion demands. He also suggested telegrams and telephones, only, be employed in getting in communication with legislators.

DROP CHARGES AGAINST BOYS

Acton Banks and Brunner Dismissed in Wahwassuck Case.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Nov. 15—(AP)—The Joseph Wahwassuck murder case was completely cleared from the docket today when County Attorney R. C. James dismissed charges against Acton Banks, 19, and Elton Brunner, 17, accused of being accessories of Thurman Banks.

"You can't get a jury to convict in this county," was the prosecutor's explanation. "We have had that demonstrated several times." The release of Banks and Brunner came as the aftermath of the exoneration of Thurman Banks, 18, by the district court jury. Jurymen indicated there were two deciding factors in Banks' favor. First, that identification of the badly decomposed body taken from the Missouri river was not complete, and, second, that the defendant would be punished by the federal government on a charge of violating the Dyer act.

Sheriff Lewis Davies has been ordered by federal agents to hold the trio on car theft charges filed at Sioux City, Ia.

STANEK REGAINS HUSKING CROWN

Iowa Man Wins National Championship for Fourth Time.

Guy Simms of Harlan County, Neb., in Second Place.

NORTON, Kas., Nov 15—(AP)—Fred Stanek, 30-year-old rural athlete from Iowa, again is the national corn husking champion.

As the contestant from the state "where the tall corn grows" shucked his way to a fourth title yesterday in the great annual cornfield classic he earned approximately $34 for each of the 30.34 bushels in the victory achieving load.

This handsome corn husking fee, ordinarily a matter of a few cents, is to be paid the victor in the battle of bangboards by Lee Phillips, Bartlesville, Okla., oil man.

Phillips last December told Secretary of Agriculture Hyde he would give the winner of the contest a prize of $1,000. Last night Phillips said the offer is "still good."

News reel cameras and a radio tower of the National Broadcasting company recorded Stanek's prowess as he stalked through the tall corn stalks to his fourth and least rigorous national championship.

Was First Champion.

The clouds of dust yesterday were in sharp contrast to the bitter winds and icy blades which the Iowan conquered to win at Winnebago, Minn., in 1927. A sodden, snow blanketed field was among the handicaps he overcame to capture first honors at Fremont, Neb., in 1926. Stanek by winning yesterday became both first and last title holder. He won the initial contest in 1924.

The Fort Dodge husker's load was just 380 pounds short of the record for the country, established in 1925 by Elmer Williams, the Toulon, Ill., praying shucker.

More than 40,000 persons witnessed Stanek regain his honors. The crowd swept aside special police and added an additional handicap to the struggling huskers who for 80 minutes tossed streams of ears into their accompanying wagons.

Other contestants and the order of their finish:

Guy Simms, Harlan county, Neb., 29.65 bushels.

Theodore Balko, Redwood county, Minn., 28 83.

Ray Hanson, Cottonwood county, Minn., 28.43.

Orville Welch, White county, Ill., 28 41.

Harold Holmes, Henry county, Ill., 28.25.

Glen Washburn, Dekalb county, Mo., 27 57.

Clyde Tague, Guthrie county, Iowa, 26 8.

Lawrence House, Sherman county, Kas., 26 64.

Harry Etter, Benton county, Ind., 26 61.

C. J. Simon, Barber county, Kas., 25 34.

Martin Christiansen, Kearney county, Neb., 19.18.

Ellsworth Kapp, Andrew county, Mo., 17.6.

OMAHA, Nov. 15—(AP)—Safe robbers who completed two out of three attempts here last night, obtained little loot for their efforts, police learned today.

Stokowski, outstanding genius among the conductors, brings to you another concert which will be sent on the air with the new broadcasting method perfected by Stokowski himself.

Again you will hear The Philadelphia Orchestra in radio's newest and latest broadcasting development—the method which proved so sensational a month ago. In Stokowski's own words:

"Continued experimentation with radio broadcasting convinces me more and more of its immense future possibilities, but also of its present great limitations. After giving much thought to our last radio concert I have decided to discard part of the equipment we used, and have planned three new types of equipment for our next concert on November 16th. We are aiming thereby to take another step forward on the long road radio must travel, before it will achieve all its vast but latent possibilities."*—LEOPOLD STOKOWSKI.

Omaha Man Killed in Car Accident; Iowan Champion Husker

POLICEMAN DIES ASHLAND CRASH

Omaha Man Killed When Car Forced Into Ditch.

Wife Also in Serious Condition Following Wreck.

ASHLAND, Neb., Nov. 15—(AP)—Charles Whalen, Omaha policeman, was killed almost instantly near here early this morning when his automobile, containing himself, wife and two children, went into a ditch. A speeding car passed Whalen's forcing him over to the side of the road. The car did not stop.

Mrs. Whalen and the two children were injured, the woman so badly that an ambulance was required to bring her into Ashland for medical attention. Her condition is serious. The children's injuries were less severe.

The Whalen family had left Omaha this morning and was driving to Liberty, Neb., to spend the day with relatives.

Whalen had been an Omaha policeman for eighteen years. Four daughters survive, one of them being married and living in Omaha.

The accident occurred two and a half miles south of Gretna and the injured and dead lay beside the road for an hour and a half before they were seen and cared for. Whalen, his wife and one of the girls were pinned beneath the car. His skull was crushed and he died instantly. Mrs. Whalen's back was broken and she sustained internal injuries.

Credit Mon Retain Meyer as Secretary

State Organization Also Re-elects Fred Yanders of North Platte As President.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Nov. 15—(AP)—The convention of the Associated Credit Bureaus of Nebraska was brought to a close late Friday afternoon with the unanimous re-election of Fred W. Yanders, North Platte, as president.

Other officers named were: V. D. Hustead, Lincoln, vice president, to succeed Arthur Varah, Hastings; Max Meyer, Lincoln, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

An amendment to the by-laws, making it compulsory for each credit bureau member to affiliate with the service department of the National Retail Credit association, was unanimously adopted. A considerable portion of the afternoon session was taken up by a round table discussion led by Roy B. Ford, Lincoln attorney and lobbyist for the State Credit association, relative to legislative action in which the state credit group is interested.

Ford urged the organization of local bureaus, with prominent local men in charge, so that pressure could be brought to bear on legislators when occasion demands. He also suggested telegrams and telephones, only, be employed in getting in communication with legislators.

DROP CHARGES AGAINST BOYS

Acton Banks and Brunner Dismissed in Wahwassuck Case.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Nov. 15—(AP)—The Joseph Wahwassuck murder case was completely cleared from the docket today when County Attorney R. C. James dismissed charges against Acton Banks, 19, and Elton Brunner, 17, accused of being accessories of Thurman Banks.

"You can't get a jury to convict in this county," was the prosecutor's explanation. "We have had that demonstrated several times." The release of Banks and Brunner came as the aftermath of the exoneration of Thurman Banks, 18, by the District court jury. Jurymen indicated there were two deciding factors in Banks' favor. First, that identification of the badly decomposed body taken from the Missouri river was not complete, and, second, that the defendant would be punished by the federal government on a charge of violating the Dyer act.

Sheriff Lewis Davies has been ordered by federal agents to hold the trio on car theft charges filed at Sioux City, Ia.

HEMINGFORD, Neb., Nov. 15—(AP)—Wayne Shaver, 15, was injured seriously here today while playing football. He received a broken cheek bone and the left side of his face was crushed. He was champion in 1925, 1926 and 1927. Guy Simms of Harlan county, Neb., was second in the national meet, which was attended by 40,000 people.

BEET GROWERS PAID BIG SUM

Sugar Company Distributes Millions in Western Nebraska.

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Nov. 15—Sugar beet growers in five Scotts Bluff county towns and one Morrill county town will receive more than $5,300,000 from the Great Western Sugar company today for beets delivered in October.

The wield this year averaged 14½ tons per acre, bringing $7 a ton, as a gauranteed minimum.

Less than one-half of 1 per cent of the total western Nebraska crop remains to be delivered to factories. Mills will complete their operations about the first of anuary.

One payment preceded that of today and another is scheduled to be made later this month.

MRS. VON STEEN DIES.

(Special to The Star.)

STANEK REGAINS HUSKING CROWN

Iowa Man Wins National Championship for Fourth Time.

Guy Simms of Harlan County, Neb., in Second Place.

NORTON, Kas., Nov 15—(AP)—Fred Stanek, 30-year-old rural athlete from Iowa, again is the national corn husking champion.

As the contestant from the state "where the tall corn grows" shucked his way to a fourth title yesterday in the great annual cornfield classic he earned approximately $34 for each of the 30.34 bushels in the victory achieving load.

This handsome corn husking fee, ordinarily a matter of a few cents, is to be paid the victor in the battle of bangboards by Lee Phillips, Bartlesville, Okla., oil man.

Phillips last December told Secretary of Agriculture Hyde he would give the winner of the contest a prize of $1,000. Last night Phillips said the offer is "still good."

News reel cameras and a radio tower of the National Broadcasting company recorded Stanek's prowess as he stalked through the tall corn stalks to his fourth and least rigorous national championship.

Was First Champion.

The clouds of dust yesterday were in sharp contrast to the bitter winds and icy blades which the Iowan conquered to win at Winnebago, Minn., in 1927. A sodden, snow blanketed field was among the handicaps he overcame to capture first honors at Fremont, Neb., in 1926. Stanek by winning yesterday became both first and last title holder. He won the initial contest in 1924.

The Fort Dodge husker's load was just 380 pounds short of the record for the country, established in 1925 by Elmer Williams, the Toulon, Ill., praying shucker.

More than 40,000 persons witnessed Stanek regain his honors. The crowd swept aside special police and added an additional handicap to the struggling huskers who for 80 minutes tossed streams of ears into their accompanying wagons

Other contestants and the order of their finish:

Guy Simms, Harlan county, Neb., 29.65 bushels.

Theodore Balko, Redwood county, Minn., 28.83.

Ray Hanson, Cottonwood county, Minn., 28.43.

Orville Welch, White county, Ill., 28.41.

Harold Holmes, Henry county, Ill., 28.25.

Glen Washburn, Dekalb county, Mo., 27.57.

Clyde Tague, Guthrie county, Iowa, 26.8

Lawrence House, Sherman county, Kas., 26.64.

Harry Etter, Benton county, Ind., 26.61.

C. J. Simon, Barber county, Kas., 25.34.

Martin Christiansen, Kearney county, Neb., 19.18.

Ellsworth Kapp, Andrew county, Mo., 17.6.

The wound is not serious. The girl had found the gun in a dresser drawer.

SAFE CRACKERS WORK IN OMAHA

Obtain Little Loot as Reward for Their Efforts.

OMAHA, Nov. 15—(AP)—Safe robbers who completed two out of three attempts here last night, obtained little loot for their efforts, police learned today.

Two attempted safe robberies reported to authorities were successful, while a third was frustrated by a policeman who scared away the robbers while they were engaged in their work.

Combinations on two safes in the Hopper Brothers Coal company offices were punched and two wrist watches, two diamond rings and a small amount of change were taken. A small safe containing about $80 was removed from a Nicholas Oil company filling station.

PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA

Stokowski, outstanding genius among the conductors, brings to you another concert which will be sent on the air with the new broadcasting method perfected by Stokowski himself.

Again you will hear The Philadelphia Orchestra in radio's newest and latest broadcasting development—the method which proved so sensational a month ago. In Stokowski's own words:

"Continued experimentation with radio broadcasting convinces me more and more of its immense future possibilities, but also of its present great limitations. After giving much thought to our last radio concert I have decided to discard part of the equipment we used, and have planned three new types of equipment for our next concert on November 16th. We are aiming thereby to take another step forward on the long road radio must travel, before it will achieve all its vast but latent possibilities."*—LEOPOLD STOKOWSKI.

CHEAP AT $60,000,000.

The Washington correspondent of The Kansas City Star, credited in many circles with being an unofficial spokesman for President Hoover, ventures the interesting prophecy the administration farm board is shortly to abandon its effort to stabilize the price of wheat and other products.

Chairman Legge and his associates have sunk $60,000,000 of public funds in the ill fated venture so far. That sum represents the net loss on the wheat which the board has purchased at the pegged price of $1.18 a bushel and what it would now bring on the market. Practically all of its purchases were made months ago while wheat was around $1 a bushel and not at its present level.

It is unnecessary to say the country was dubious of Mr. Hoover's stabilization program from the start. Those who advocated the equalization fee plan embodied in the McNary-Haugen legislation, and those who favored a debenture bill were no less skeptical than those who insisted it was uneconomic and absurd to attempt to legislate value into farm products. In short, from the beginning the Hoover board had the antagonism of both McNary-Haugenites and those who wanted the government to keep its fingers out of the business of farming. So there will be relatively little disappointment and few regrets over the announcement Chairman Legge and his colleagues have decided to give it up as a bad job.

The nation will have gotten off cheaply.

The law which created the Hoover farm board provided an appropriation up to $500,000,000 yearly to carry out its objectives. Actually congress had placed an initial sum of $150,000,000 at the disposal of the board. Now after more than a year, with the net result of its labors to slash the price of wheat in two, less than half the sum which the board might have spent has been wasted. That is the sole outstanding achievement to its credit. It could have dissipated more than twice as much money as it did. Philosophically we might concede the experiment has been worth the price. It has been demonstrated beyond question that experiments of the character undertaken under the Hoover program are worthless in attempting a real solution of the farm problem. It may save us from a folly far more expensive and disastrous in the final consequences. What has happened under the Hoover program merely corroborates the results of the efforts of Great Britain and Brazil to bolster the prices of rubber and coffee. They rigged up different machinery with the same outcome. In Brazil it overthrew a government while Great Britain lost the monopoly which it had had on crude rubber. What is a paltry $60,000,000 to complete disruption and ruin of the farming industry in America?

At the time the Hoover farm board was created the Nebraska farmer was getting $1.10 a bushel for his wheat. Today he is receiving from 55 to 60 cents a bushel. Whether the drastic drop which has taken place may be attributed completely to the economic conditions throughout the world cannot be determined. There are many competent authorities who insist the farm board's program slashed the price of wheat deeper than would have happened otherwise. Certainly it has not aided in any degree in maintaining prices.

There is the alarming suggestion that the next congress will see a renewed fight to obtain legislation along the line of the McNary-Haugen bill, or failing in this the debenture plan. Of the two the latter is less dangerous. But it is to be believed the farmer himself would prefer to be left alone by his political friends. He has taken a hard bump and the solicitous efforts on his behalf have only added to his troubles. He has full faith and confidence in his own ability to solve his problems, but his chances are lessened with the government messing in his affairs.

The president has interpreted the recent election returns correctly if he views it as a mandate to discontinue his farm board's stabilization plan. The farmer will pay the $60,000,000 and many times that in reduced values of products if the members of the board will close their brief cases and go home.

NEEDED LEGISLATIVE REFORMS.

Vicious features of the logrolling system practiced at every session of the Nebraska legislature, as pointed out by Attorney General Sorensen, probably cannot be wholly eliminated through the enactment of any law, but some such method as he suggests for handling appropriation bills will be necessary in order to minimize the evil.

The practice is to take the budget bill submitted by the governor, load it down with all sorts of new items and increases over the proposed amounts, and then bring it out to be voted upon as an entirety, without giving members a fair chance to consider or act upon the additional items on their own merits.

In order to win enough votes to put the measure through with the necessary three-fifths majority required by the constitution to override the governor's recommendations, it is customary to tack on many items in which individual members are interested for the sole purpose of getting their support for the blanket appropriations.

That is not the right way to legislate for the great state of Nebraska, nor is it fair to the people who pay the taxes which support the state government. No meritorious project needs to be logrolled through in any such manner. The taxpayers are willing to provide necessary funds for education, highways, care of unfortunates, the new capitol, and essential public works and services. But they have a right to object to mixing a job lot of pork barrel items with the legitimate expenditures of the state and forcing members to vote for or against the entire list as a whole.

The governor is supposed to go over all departmental and institutional needs before making up the budget. When he submits it to the legislature, it ought to be taken up and considered by itself. Attorney General Sorensen's proposal to have the budget bill segregated from all other appropriations is a sound one. The coming legislature will do well to adopt it and to provide for continuance of such practice by passing an act governing its own procedure.

Mr. Sorensen is also on the right track in his suggestion for amendments to the primary law making it more difficult for political freaks to get themselves before the public by paying a filing fee of $5 or $10, as well as to discourage the candidacies of political nobodies who capitalize on the names of well known figures in public affairs. Several disgraceful incidents of these sorts are within recent memory, and the legislature owes it to the state to erect barriers which will make it difficult, if not impossible, to repeat them.

A WESTERNER AGAIN.

A westerner is honored again for literary efforts. This time it is Willa Cather, now living in the east but particularly a Nebraska product. She was announced Friday night as the recipient of the fiction medal awarded annually by the American Academy of Arts and Letters to a distinguished American writer.

Willa Cather is both a tribute to the inspiring influence of the broad Nebraska prairies, the courageous struggle to build civilization from nothing, and an interpreter of that struggle.

Raised in Nebraska, trained in Nebraska, Willa Cather is one of the outstanding of a number of highly qualified writers whose first work was done in this state.

More than that, there is reason to believe that Miss Cather's greatest works are those in which she has caught up the spirit of the progressive struggle of Nebraskans to overcome natural difficulties in the building of a great state. Her stories of Nebraska life have made life before thousands of people, the intimate glory of sustained effort. Her interpretations of Nebraska were among the first to bring both to Nebraskans and to others a consciousness of the great achievement of the state's pioneers, and their successors.

It is pleasing to Nebraska to know that Miss Cather has been honored. It is also pleasing to know that a distinguished committee has recognized the wholesome merit of an artist in portraying the life of one of the great phases of America's western development

WORK LEISURE.

Industrial progress constantly moves nearer the day when shorter working hours and increased material possessions will be the common lot of mankind, assuming, of course, that administrative capacities of the nation develop sufficiently to organize the nation's productive abilities to utilize all men in a constructive way.

The right use of the leisure that will eventually come has been troubling educators for several years. J. Milnor Dorey, executive secretary of the Progressive Education association, sounds an intelligent note in discussions of leisure in an article in a recent number of "School and Society," a weekly educational publication.

"The only way to a right use of leisure," he writes, "is through that kind of purposeful work growing out of the naturally stimulated initiative and interest of youth that will make work and leisure one.

"The race has grown passive and receptive," declares Mr. Dorey, "not active and productive. Machines do our work and mechanical devices furnish our culture. We no longer take any personal joy in doing individual creative work. We are now possessed of the notion that comforts are not comforts if we have to provide them for ourselves and amusements are not amusements unless some one else furnishes them."

It is a bleak picture which Mr. Dorey paints as he traces the abandonment of creative practices in industry as machines gain new fields. He comes to the conclusion that "this alleged leisure time which is causing such grave concern is also likely to become absorbed in fruitless activities which neither amuse nor recuperate. And in the melee, the remnant of the souls we possess will quite vanish."

While Mr. Dorey may be unduly pessimistic in his outlook, he has certainly sounded the warning note along sound lines. Much of current unrest and dissatisfaction is unquestionably due to loss of opportunity for individual initiative through mechanization of industry. Much receptive amusement has replaced the productive amusement that once characterized this nation.

But there are hundreds of thousands of persons in this country who are not satisfied merely to receive. They are the nucleus of the hope for a renewed outpouring of constructive effort in leisure time. In the capacity of the American people to develop wholesome, constructive uses of leisure to supplement the mechanized aids to leisure which are so abundant, lies the salvation of the glory which is the human spirit—curious, never-satisfied, intelligntly seeking forward.

PICK UNI TEAMS TO JUDGE CROPS IN K. C. CONTEST

Glen Burton of Bartley, Horace Traulsen of Paxton, Melvin Husa of Barneston, and Fred Siefer of Dalton will represent Nebraska and the University of Nebraska in the crops judging and identification contest at the Kansas City Royal, Monday, November 17. Anton Frolik, instructor in field crops at the college of agriculture, will go with the team as coach.

The Nebraska boys will be required to grade grain, hay and cotton. They know very little about cotton, according to the coach. In the judging division, they must judge corn, threshed grain, small seeded legumes, and grasses.

Another requirement in the contest is that they identify varieties of grains and also weeds that grow in any part of the United States. In order to qualify in this part of the contest, the Nebraska team has had to study more than 200 different weeds.

Written reasons are required in this contest. The contestants write down defects and what they find wrong with the samples, rather than compare one individual with another.

GILLILAND TRIAL ON AT ALLIANCE

ALLIANCE, Neb. Nov. 15—(AP)—S. W. Gilliland, 35, Crawford, went to trial here yesterday on charges of provokinbg an assault last August on James Jelinek, 40, well known wheat farmer. The state charges Gilliland incited Ralph Abbott, 32, Tulsa, Okla., to administer a severe beating to Jelinek.

Gilliland operated a wheat harvesting combine in gathering part of Jelinek's wheat crop. Jelinek claims an argument over wages caused the assault upon him. At the conclusion of the Gilliland case, County Attorney P. E. Romig will start the trial of Abbott on a charge of committing the assault.

OLD BILL IN MONEY MATTERS

Old Bill's attitude to money
In these careless times seemed funny.
Bills disturbed him, debts upset him,
Owing money used to fret him.
Large or small the obligation
From the very day he made it,
This was Old Bill's exclamation:
"I can't rest until I've paid it!"

If he owed a hundred dollars
Old Bill stuck to saw-edged collars
And the "good-enough-to-do" things
Caring: "I can't strut in new things
With an air and manners breezy
Just to make a pretty showing.
I don't feel the least bit easy
Meeting people I am owing.

"Good friends tell me not to worry.
Just forget it; do not hurry.
Take your time; pay when you can.
That's no way to be a man.
Friendship can't be kept with small ways
Though they mean it when they say it,
What I owe to friends is always
On my conscience till I pay it."

Owing money made him fretful,
Ill at ease, but not forgetful.
None could coax him to evade it,
He'd not rest until he'd paid it.
And I think we'd all be better
And our friendship stronger build ed
Could we say of every debtor
That he worried just as Bill did.

Everyday Questions

Answered By

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

(Copyright 1930, New York Tribune.)

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

QUESTION.

Cincinnati, Ohio.

I am very much on the fence about the theories of Anglo-Israelism, but think its contentions very logical and without them much of the Bible seems contradictory and unintelligible. What is your opinion?

ANSWER.

The theory of Anglo-Israelism identifies the "lost tribes" of Israel with the British people. These tribes are said to have traveled westward subsequently to the Assyrian captivity, and after staving off the attacks of Romans and Huns, to have settled in various provinces of northern Europe, where they founded theocratic republics after the Hebrew patterns.

The main contention of the Anglo-Israelites is largely based upon similarities in beliefs, customs and languages between the Hebrew and British nations. Their argument is farfetched and unhistorical. Support is sought by the advocates of this theory in their claim that the promise of God to Abraham has been fulfilled in the colonizing success of Great Britain. "For thou shalt spread abroad on the right hand and on the left, and thy seed shall possess all the nations, and make the desolate cities to be inhabited" (Isaiah liv. 3), is a passage taken as applying to the British commonwealth of nations. Even the United States is said to be long by royal discent to the tribe of Manasseh (Genesis xlviii. 19.) Aden, Singapore and Gibraltar are provided for as strategic centers in the general scheme.

It is plausible, but imaginary, without any reasonable grounds, and subversie of the correct interpretation of the Bible. The fact that many people in English speaking countries accept the theory reminds one of the old saying that "Scripture is like a nose of wax; it can be molded to suit any man's face."

QUESTION.

Brooklyn, N. Y.

(1) What is the present religion of the Netherlands, Dutch Reformed or Lutheran, and since when?

(2) Who were the Girondists? How did their name originate? Please give me the date of their appearance in French politics.

ANSWER.

(1) The prevailing religion of Holland is that Calvinistic branch of Prorestantism known as the Dutch Reformed Church. Its dominance in the Netherlands dates from the rule of William of Orange (1533-1584), who wrested the independence of his country from Philip the Second of Spain. The Synod of Dort (1618) formulated the creed of this church as found in the Heidelberg Catechism.

(2) The Girndists—so named after the province of Gironde, one of the departments of France—were the moderate party of the French revolution, whose aversion to its extreme measures brought them to the scaffold. Led by Brissot and Condorcet, they endeavored to apply their idealistic politics to a chaotic situation. For a time they succeeded, and during 1791 and 1792 exercised governmental control. But the Jacobins, headed by Danton, Marat and Robespierre, supplanted and destroyed them. Then came the Terror, which raged from October, 1792 to June, 1794 during which period thousands of innocent victims were sent to the guillotine. The Girondists are a historic proof that reason, learning and oratory are useless against fanatical nationalism and mob fury.

Lamartine's account of them is a fine literary achievement, but it is biased and inaccurate as a record. Read Paul Van Dyke's "The Story of France" and the works of Hillaire Belloc. Do not overlook Carlyle's great book on "The French Revolution."

SPLASH! She Swims to Conquer

By Eleanore Burnett. Copyright 1930, by Central Press Association

READ THIS FIRST:

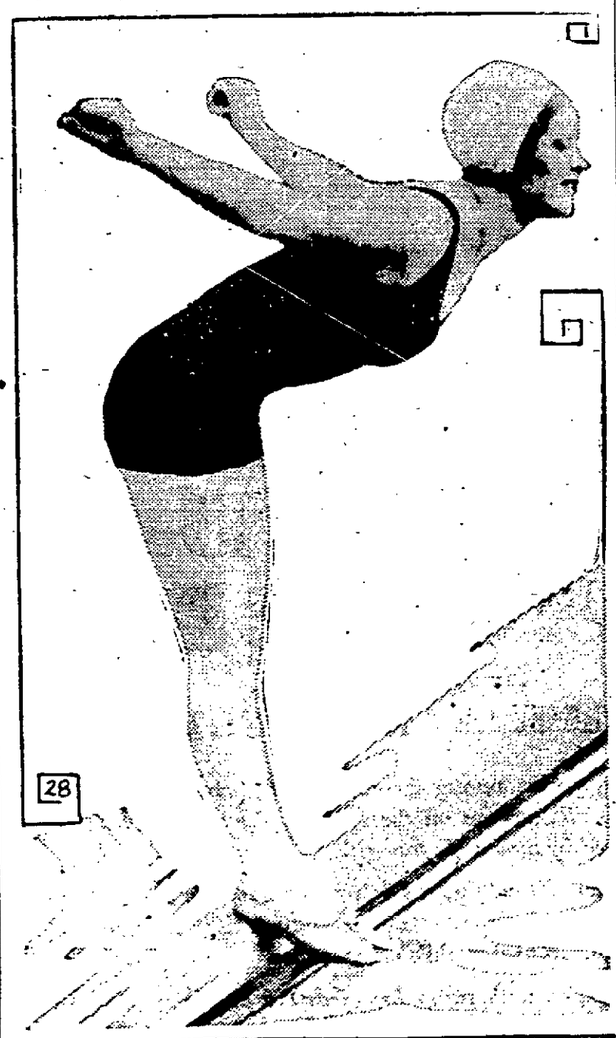

Kitty Wilmot, secretary to Ellery Goss, assists Gordon Platt, confidential man, whom she loves, in running down a "leak." Goss' chief clerk, Atlee Wainright, proposes marriage, which Kitty refuses. Boss Kelliher asks her to work for him.

She defeats a professional swimmer in a race but indignantly rejects money a gambler offers her.

To help Gordon, Kitty goes to a private detective agency, where she is shocked to find Gayle, the gambler who bet on her, in charge. But she is happy to learn from him that Platt returned his money; and falls asleep that night dreaming of the kiss Platt never tried to give her.

Her home-town lover, John Spurgeon, arrives unexpectedly in New York; Kitty stages a party for him where she sees Platt, who cuts her dead. When she speaks to Platt he denies his own name.

She refuses a proposal from John. Next day Platt tells her he was doing secret work and did not want the suspect to know his name; Kitty hears for the first time of Gila Mine stock. Taking important dictation from Goss, she lays a plan to foil the information thief, learns that Spurgeon is investing in Gila Mine, which she knows will drop, and resolves to help him, secretly. To get money to help him she determines to swim as a professional. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Kitty decided to go into the race.

Chapter 28.

"Mr. Gayle, I've got to make two thousand dollars and make it quick!"

In his little office Gayle turned curiously to "Miss Smith."

"Why?" he asked directly.

"I can't tell you. But I've got to have it!"

Gayle looked at her quizzically. "Detectives are not usually asked to trail money!" he suggested. "Not to be short or anything like that, why tell me?"

"Because you said a lot of money could be won by a dark horse in the interstate annual swimming meet," responded Kitty, eagerly.

"Oh, ho! Sets the wind in that quarter! You want to race, do you?"

Kitty paled a little. If she said yes, she was committed. "I don't want to!" she said honestly. "I don't want to be a professional swimmer. But I want the money more than I want not to turn pro. What prizes are hung up in what races?"

"It's not the prizes that will make you money!" answered Mr. Gayle. "It's a side bet."

"But—but I haven't any money to bet on myself, and I wouldn't know where to put in up if I had." Kitty felt suddenly relieved.

"The entries closed yesterday!" Mr. Gayle let the words fall one by one.

Kitty sighed, rather happily. "Well, that ends it, then!" She rose "I thank you for listening to me, and—"

"Sit down, please. The entries closed yesterday. But before they closed I entered Miss Smith, of New York, for the hundred and the two hundred yard."

Kitty looked at him in blank amazement. Then her color came.

"You entered me?" she spoke quickly, indignantly. "I told you I wouldn't race—"

"Softly, softly!" cried Gayle. "I didn't enter you. I entered Miss Smith."

Kitty sat down, weakly. "I—I beg your pardon!" she gasped.

"Granted!" Gayle was frankly amused. "I may have a Miss Smith among my acquaintances, and I may not. What I am trying to tell you is that if you want to race as Miss Smith, you are entered. If you don't, no harm done. As for the side bet, I'll give you an eighty-twenty split, same as I tried to pay you before."

Kitty's hand went to her heart. "Oh, what will he think of me!" she cried low. "After I told him I could not take your money—"

"You mean Platt?" asked Gayle shrewdly. "He won't be there. I happen to know he'll be in Boston on the fifteenth. Well, how about it?"

A vision of Gordon in Boston; of herself deceiving him, and doing the very thing she had been "too nice" to do before, flashed over her. "I'll have to tell him!" she confessed to herself. "It wouldn't be honest not to. But—I don't have to tell Mr. Gayle."

"Can I make two thousand dollars if I win?" she asked.

"I probably can get five to one against you; I'm willing to take a chance. If I can get five to one or better, I'll put up a couple of grands just to be sporty. Which are you best at—the one or two hundred?"

"Oh, either—both!" cried Kitty. "But suppose I lose?"

"We'll both be out of luck!" grinned Gayle. "I don't ask anything but that you do your best."

He was really rather pleasant looking, but to Kitty he was Nemesis. Yet it seemed the only way she could help her friend. Better swim and take "a split" than have John lose; far better than break Mr. Goss' confidence.

"Shake hands on it, Miss Smith!" smiled Gayle.

Kitty put her hand in his and stood committed.

On the morning of the fifteenth Kitty appeared in Fatty Hemming's office. He was reported as "very busy," but Kitty turned on her dimple, and only had to wait ten minutes before she passed through the clerk's offices to Fatty's private sanctum. When he saw his visitor he jumped to his feet, pulled out a chair and took her hands in both of his.

"Mr. Hemming," she began. "I want to ask you—"

"Where do you get that Mister stuff?" he asked.

"Why, I thought—in an office—I didn't want to presume!" Kitty crimsoned.

"All right, Miss Wilmot!" he laughed at her openly. "I'll be Mr. Hemming at your service! What can I do for you?"

"You can promise me your word of honor not to tell any human being what I'm going to tell you!" she answered.

Fatty's eyes narrowed. "I don't like to make promises in the dark!"

"Then I'll have to find a stock broker who will!" Kitty replied firmly. "I thought you kept the business secrets of your customers, like a doctor or a lawyer."

"Oh, business! Sure. I'll promise!"

"I want you to sell a hundred shares of Gila Mine, on margin. I can't give you the margin until tomorrow morning. Don't sell it until then; maybe I can't get it!"

"You mean buy, of course. It's going up." Fatty drew an order pad towards him.

"I mean sell!" answered Kitty.

Fatty stared at her. "What makes you think it's going down?"

But Kitty was ready with her answer, praying in her heart it would deceive him. "I went to a fortune teller!" she answered, unsmiling. "She told me!"

Fatty laughed. "Don't be foolish!" he warned her. But Kitty insisted. Fatty spent ten minutes trying to persuade her not to be "foolish." At the end, a little peeved with her obstinacy, he gave in. "Of course, if you insist on losing your money, I might as well have the commission as well as any one else!" he snapped. "Don't say I didn't warn you!"

"And don't you forget your promise!" reminded Kitty. "The fortune teller said it was a secret. "I'll bither have the money for you tomorrow at eighty-thirty, or you don't sell!"

Of the morality of the transaction Kitty had no thought. Had she been better trained in ethics she might well have hesitated at attempting to profit by the knowledge she had obtained from the confidential report Mr. Goss had dictated to her. But that she was violating his confidence in using her knowledge never occurred to her. She was not trying to make money for herself, only to keep a friend from losing. That she had no right to use her knowledge at all was a thought which had no place in her plan. John was in trouble; Kitty had convinced herself her false notes had reached Fatty and that she was thus responsible for John's "investment." She must save him. The only way was to risk Gordon's displeasure and swim as a professional. That was a great sacrifice. If she won, she was ready to risk her winnings for her friend.

"If the stock should go up, he'll make money. I'll lose what I win in the race—if I win. I won't care. But if as I know, the stock goes down, then I'll win and John will lose. And then Fatty will have to come across and tell John he sold for him, instead of bought. I'll manage Fatty, all right—he'll do it for me. But can I win against those professional swimmers?"

Kitty wished with all her heart that Gordon was in town, that she might tell him in advance. Then, contrarily, she was glad she couldn't tell him; maybe he'd just insist on lending her the money for John, and that she had already decided she could not permit. But she hated the deception she was to practice; she saw herself so plainly at the little supper after her racce in the East Side Natatorium; how she had shuddered away from Gayle's "split," as offered by Gordon, the light of approval in Gordon's eyes; his emphatic "I knew you wouldn't take it!"

She shivered a little; would Gordon think very hardly of her when he knew? If only she might tell him herself; if only no one else knew competed!

She declined an invitation to Sally's for supper; put off Hattie Bridges, who wanted her to come and spend the evening and told Bert Croyden, over the 'phone, that she had an engagement that evening when he asked her to go to a show.

Then her heart failed her. For Bert's voice came over the wire: "I'm sorry. Then I think I'll go to the Columbia to watch the meet tonight."

Bert would tell Sally and Atlee, of course—worse, he might tell the reporters her real name!

A very miserable girl—and mental misery is no state of mind for a swimmer to have when going into severe competition—paid off her taxi and walked slowly into the Columbia Natatorium at a few minutes after seven that evening. Not even the sight of Gayle, in the lobby, a roll of money between his fingers, was any comfort. "Deceitful, deceitful!" she cried in her heart as she went slowly up to the locker room to dress.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The Thing That Happened

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

A thing at first may be perplexing
And end in being sadly vexing.
—Peter Rabbit.

There was nothing strange in the sudden disappearance of Whitefoot the Wood Mouse. He is such a timid little fellow that he disappears at the slightest sound or movement. You see, there are so many hungry folk looking for Whitefoot that he cannot afford to take any chances. So he is forever dodging out of sight when there is no need to dodge, simply because he is not sure. Peter Rabbit knew this and waited for him to return.

But suddenly something happened that put all thought of Whitefoot from Peter's mind. He heard a song, the same pretty little song that had so surprised and then puzzled him before, the dream song, as his friends called it. You should have seen the sudden way in which Peter sat up, and the look of surprise and delight on his face. Eagerly he looked for the singer, but in vain. Not a bird was to be seen. Yet that that song came from the throat of a bird Peter hadn't a shadow of doubt.

Once more he heard that little song. This time he was certain that it came from a little tree back of that big old stump. Peter hurried around to the other side of the stump and eagerly looked for the singer. He could see all through that little tree. No one was there. He was sure of it. The little singer must have flown before he got where he could see. Anyway, this is what Peter thought.

"What are you looking for in that little tree?" asked the squeaky voice of Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

Peter turned to find Whitefoot peering down at him from the top of the old stump. "Oh, Whitefoot, did you hear it?" cried Peter eagerly.

"What?" asked Whitefoot.

"That song!" replied Peter excitedly. "I heard it twice. Didn't you hear it!"

"It must have been while I was gone," said Whitefoot. "Where did it come from?"

"I thought it came from this little tree, but I couldn't be sure of it," replied Peter. "I hurried around here, but if the singer was here he had flown before I could get a glimpse of him. Of course he may not have been in this tree. You know how hard it is to tell just where the whistle of Winsome Bluebird comes from; it seems to come from everywhere and nowhere in particular. It sounds way off when Winsome is right near, and sometimes it sounds near when Winsome is some distance away. I think this song must be like that. Oh, dear, I do wish you could hear it. Let's keep still awhile and perhaps we will hear it."

"Oh, Whitefoot, did you hear it?" cried Peter, eagerly.

So Peter and Whitefoot kept very still for a long time, but the little singer did not sing again. "He must have flown away," said Peter at last with a sigh of disappointment.

"Perhaps you frightened him," said Whitefoot. "Excuse me a minute. I wont be gone long." He ran down the side of the old stump and scurried away along one of his secret little paths.

Not two minutes after Whitefoot disappeared Peter heard that pretty little song again. This time Peter was sure that it came from some bushes growing around an old log on the ground and nearly hiding it. He wanted to rush over there, but feared to frighten the singer. He wished Whitefoot would return. Perhaps the two of them together might find that singer.

"Well," squeaked Whitefoot, "what are you staring at now?" He was back on the old stump.

"Oh, Whitefoot, what did you go away for? I heard that song again while you were gone and this time I am sure it came from among those bushes over there," cried Peter.

"You go over there and I'll watch to see if any one flies," said Whitefoot.

So Peter hopped over to the bushes while Whitefoot kept watch from the top of the stump. Peter hunted and hunted and Whitefoot kept watch, but all in vain.

"It certainly is queer," said Peter.

"Isn't it?" replied Whitefoot.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

ORGANIZE HOME IF YOU'RE OVERWEIGHT; EVERYONE MUST BE IN SYMPATHY WITH YOU.

The organization of the overweight person's home is the most important part of the reduction cure.

Dr. Clendening

I am not going to set down a list of menus because I know what you will do. You will pounce on them, and start to try them out. You will neglect all the other things which make for success. And then if you are not sylph-like at the end of a week you will blame me.

Everybody in the household must be in sympathy with the victim, especially the cook. This is not always easy to arrange, for the good old reason that "nobody loves a fat man."

Then the mental attitude of the "patient" must be right. You are going on a diet 'not for an hour, not for a day," but so long as ye both shall live.

Diet is the main part of the active treatment.

First, no alcohol. You are not just taking a ride on the water wagon. You are up to stay. Alcohol spares fat. It yields seven calories per teaspoonful, and is burned more readily than foodstuffs, thus saving them to be turned into fat.

Second, the sweets. Carbohydrates are probably not as active in forming fat as was once supposed, but they must be eliminated from the diet in part, just the same. The easiest place to do this is sweets. Cut out desserts, cake, sugar in your coffee, candy, ice cream sodas, maple syrup, etc. One slice of bread at a meal is enough. Saccharine is a substance without food value, which is sweeter than sugar. You can put a pellet of that in your coffee.

Fats! They are your worst enemy. My eminent rival, in advising the public on health matters, Mr. Samuel Blythe, informed the readers of a well-known magazine a short time ago that the old ideas about the influence of starches on fat formation were all wrong, and that fat makes fat. I agree with him.

The elimination of fat is hard, because it includes all the sauces and dressings which give so much flavor and gusto to the food. But once done, it yields great results. "Flavor and gusto" are your enemies, anyhow.

No Salad dressing. There are 500 calories in an ordinary serving of French dressing or mayonnaise.

No gravy. Little or no butter. Little or no cream.

Just eliminating sweets and fats will go a long way towards keeping your weight down. But think what a lot of good things to eat remain for you.

Fruits, eggs, fish, toast and coffee for breakfast.

Clear soup or broth, a serving of meat, choice of spinach, asparagus, sauerkraut, onions, green beans, cabbage, artichokes, broccoli, rhubarb, celery, lettuce and tomato for lunch.

The same or green beans turnips, string beans, beets or green peas with a piece of toast and an orange, slice of pineapple, some berries or a peach for dessert, with black coffee for dinner.

CHICAGO BUMS' VILLAGE WIPED OUT BY POLICE

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—(AP)—A whole colony of shacks improvised along the shore of Lake Michigan by vagrants against the coming of winter was wiped out by a tractor under police orders. The fragments were burned after they had been classified as eyesores.

One of the vagrants, unofficially referred to as the "mayor" of the colony, watched the tractor as it pushed over the shacks.

CHEAP AT $60,000,000.

The Washington correspondent of The Kansas City Star, credited in many circles with being an unofficial spokesman for President Hoover, ventures the interesting prophecy the administration farm board is shortly to abandon its effort to stabilize the price of wheat and other products.

Chairman Legge and his associates have sunk $60,000,000 of public funds in the ill fated venture so far. That sum represents the net loss on the wheat which the board has purchased at the pegged price of $1.18 a bushel and what it would now bring on the market. Practically all of its purchases were made months ago while wheat was around $1 a bushel and not at its present level.

It is unnecessary to say the country was dubious of Mr. Hoover's stabilization program from the start. Those who advocated the equalization fee plan embodied in the McNary-Haugen legislation, and those who favored a debenture bill were no less skeptical than those who insisted it was uneconomic and absurd to attempt to legislate value into farm products. In short, from the beginning the Hoover board had the antagonism of both McNary-Haugenites and those who wanted the government to keep its fingers out of the business of farming. So there will be relatively little disappointment and few regrets over the announcement Chairman Legge and his colleagues have decided to give it up as a bad job.

The nation will have gotten off cheaply.

The law which created the Hoover farm board provided an appropriation up to $500,000,000 yearly to carry out its objectives. Actually congress had placed an initial sum of $150,000,000 at the disposal of the board. Now after more than a year, with the net result of its labors to slash the price of wheat in two, less than half the sum which the board might have spent has been wasted. That is the sole outstanding achievement to its credit. It could have dissipated more than twice as much money as it did. Philosophically we might concede the experiment has been worth the price. It has been demonstrated beyond question that experiments of the character undertaken under the Hoover program are worthless in attempting a real solution of the farm problem. It may save us from a folly far more expensive and disastrous in the final consequences. What has happened under the Hoover program merely corroborates the results of the efforts of Great Britain and Brazil to bolster the prices of rubber and coffee. They rigged up different machinery with the same outcome. In Brazil it overthrew a government while Great Britain lost the monopoly which it had had on crude rubber. What is a paltry $60,000,000 to complete disruption and ruin of the farming industry in America?

At the time the Hoover farm board was created the Nebraska farmer was getting $1.10 a bushel for his wheat. Today he is receiving from 55 to 60 cents a bushel. Whether the drastic drop which has taken place may be attributed completely to the economic conditions throughout the world cannot be determined. There are many competent authorities who insist the farm board's program slashed the price of wheat deeper than would have happened otherwise. Certainly it has not aided in any degree in maintaining prices.

There is the alarming suggestion that the next congress will see a renewed fight to obtain legislation along the line of the McNary-Haugen bill, or failing in this the debenture plan. Of the two the latter is less dangerous. But it is to be believed the farmer himself would prefer to be left alone by his political friends. He has taken a hard bump and the solicitous efforts on his behalf have only added to his troubles. He has full faith and confidence in his own ability to solve his problems, but his chances are lessened with the government messing in his affairs.

The president has interpreted the recent election returns correctly if he views it as a mandate to discontinue his farm board's stabilization plan. The farmer will pay the $60,000,000 and many times that in reduced values of products if the members of the board will close their brief cases and go home.

NEEDED LEGISLATIVE REFORMS.

Vicious features of the logrolling system practiced at every session of the Nebraska legislature, as pointed out by Attorney General Sorensen, probably cannot be wholly eliminated through the enactment of any law, but some such method as he suggests for handling appropriation bills will be necessary in order to minimize the evil.

The practice is to take the budget bill submitted by the governor, load it down with all sorts of new items and increases over the proposed amounts, and then bring it out to be voted upon as an entirety, without giving members a fair chance to consider or act upon the additional items on their own merits.

In order to win enough votes to put the measure through with the necessary three-fifths majority required by the constitution to override the governor's recommendations, it is customary to tack on many items in which individual members are interested for the sole purpose of getting their support for the blanket appropriations.

That is not the right way to legislate for the great state of Nebraska, nor is it fair to the people who pay the taxes which support the state government. No meritorious project needs to be logrolled through in any such manner. The taxpayers are willing to provide necessary funds for education, highways, care of unfortunates, the new capitol, and essential public works and services. But they have a right to object to mixing a job lot of pork barrel items with the legitimate expenditures of the state and forcing members to vote for or against the entire list as a whole.

The governor is supposed to go over all departmental and institutional needs before making up the budget. When he submits it to the legislature, it ought to be taken up and considered by itself. Attorney General Sorensen's proposal to have the budget bill segregated from all other appropriations is a sound one. The coming legislature will do well to adopt it and to provide for continuance of such practice by passing an act governing its own procedure.

Mr. Sorensen is also on the right track in his suggestion for amendments to the primary law making it more difficult for political freaks to get themselves before the public by paying a filing fee of $5 or $10, as well as to discourage the candidacies of political nobodies who capitalize on the names of well known figures in public affairs. Several disgraceful incidents of these sorts are within recent memory, and the legislature owes it to the state to erect barriers which will make it difficult, if not impossible, to repeat them.

A WESTERNER AGAIN.

A westerner is honored again for literary efforts. This time it is Willa Cather, now living in the east but particularly a Nebraska product. She was announced Friday night as the recipient of the fiction medal awarded annually by the American Academy of Arts and Letters to a distinguished American writer.

Willa Cather is both a tribute to the inspiring influence of the broad Nebraska prairies, the courageous struggle to build civilization from nothing, and an interpreter of that struggle.

Raised in Nebraska, trained in Nebraska, Willa Cather is one of the outstanding of a number of highly qualified writers whose first work was done in this state.

More than that, there is reason to believe that Miss Cather's greatest works are those in which she has caught up the spirit of the progressive struggle of Nebraskans to overcome natural difficulties in the building of a great state. Her stories of Nebraska life have made life before thousands of people, the intimate glory of sustained effort. Her interpretations of Nebraska were among the first to bring both to Nebraskans and to others a consciousness of the great achievement of the state's pioneers, and their successors.

It is pleasing to Nebraska to know that Miss Cather has been honored. It is also pleasing to know that a distinguished committee has recognized the wholesome merit of an artist in portraying the life of one of the great phases of America's western development

WORK LEISURE.

Industrial progress constantly moves nearer the day when shorter working hours and increased material possessions will be the common lot of mankind, assuming, of course, that administrative capacities of the nation develop sufficiently to organize the nation's productive abilities to utilize all men in a constructive way.

The right use of the leisure that will eventually come has been troubling educators for several years. J. Milnor Dorey, executive secretary of the Progressive Education association, sounds an intelligent note in discussions of leisure in an article in a recent number of "School and Society," a weekly educational publication.

"The only way to a right use of leisure," he writes, "is through that kind of purposeful work growing out of the naturally stimulated initiative and interest of youth that will make work and leisure one.

"The race has grown passive and receptive," declares Mr. Dorey, "not active and productive. Machines do our work and mechanical devices furnish our culture. We no longer take any personal joy in doing individual creative work. We are now possessed of the notion that comforts are not comforts if we have to provide them for ourselves and amusements are not amusements unless some one else furnishes them."

It is a bleak picture which Mr. Dorey paints as he traces the abandonment of creative practices in industry as machines gain new fields. He comes to the conclusion that "this alleged leisure time which is causing such grave concern is also likely to become absorbed in fruitless activities which neither amuse nor recuperate. And in the melee, the remnant of the souls we possess will quite vanish."

While Mr. Dorey may be unduly pessimistic in his outlook, he has certainly sounded the warning note along sound lines. Much of current unrest and dissatisfaction is unquestionably due to loss of opportunity for individual initiative through mechanization of industry. Much receptive amusement has replaced the productive amusement that once characterized this nation.

But there are hundreds of thousands of persons in this country who are not satisfied merely to receive. They are the nucleus of the hope for a renewed outpouring of constructive effort in leisure time. In the capacity of the American people to develop wholesome, constructive uses of leisure to supplement the mechanized aids to leisure which are so abundant, lies the salvation of the glory which is the human spirit—curious, never-satisfied, intelligntly seeking forward.

PICK UNI TEAMS TO JUDGE CROPS IN K. C. CONTEST

Glen Burton of Bartley, Horace Traulsen of Paxton, Melvin Husa of Barneston, and Fred Siefer of Dalton will represent Nebraska and the University of Nebraska in the crops judging and identification contest at the Kansas City Royal, Monday, November 17, Anton Frloik, instructor in field crops at the college of agriculture, will go with the team as coach.

The Nebraska boys will be required to grade grain, hay and cotton. They know very little about cotton, according to the coach. In the judging division, they must judge corn, threshed grain, small seeded legumes, and grasses.

Another requirement in the contest is that they identify varieties of grains and also weeds that grow in any part of the United States. In order to qualify in this part of the contest, the Nebraska team has had to study more than 200 different weeds.

Written reasons are required in this contest. The contestants write down defects and what they find wrong with the samples, rather than compare one individual with another.

GILLILAND TRIAL ON AT ALLIANCE

ALLIANCE, Neb. Nov. 15—(AP)—S. W. Gilliland, 35, Crawford, went to trial here yesterday on charges of provokinbg an assault last August on James Jelinek, 40, well known wheat farmer. The state charges Gilliland incited Ralph Abbott, 32, Tulsa, Okla., to administer a severe beating to Jelinek.

Gilliland operated a wheat harvesting combine in gathering part of Jelinek's wheat crop. Jelinek claims an argument over wages caused the assault upon him. At the conclusion of the Gilliland case, County Attorney P. E. Romig will start the trial of Abbott on a charge of committing the assault.

QUESTION.

Cincinnati, Ohio.

I am very much on the fence about the theories of Angle-Israelism, but think its contentions very logical and without them much of the Bible seems contradictory and unintelligible. What is your opinion?

ANSWER.

The theory of Anglo-Israelism identifies the "lost tribes" of Israel with the British people. These tribes are said to have traveled westward subsequently to the Assyrian captivity, and after staving off the attacks of Romans and Huns, to have settled in various provinces of northern Europe, where they founded theocratic republics after the Hebrew patterns.

The main contention of the Anglo-Israelites is largely based upon similarities in beliefs, customs and languages between the Hebrew and British nations. Their argument is farfetched and unhistorical. Support is sought by the advocates of this theory in their claim that the promise of God to Abraham has been fulfilled in the colonizing success of Great Britain. "For thou shalt spread abroad on the right hand and on the left, and thy seed shall possess all the nations, and make the desolate cities to be inhabited" (Isaiah liv. 3), is a passage taken as applying to the British commonwealth of nations. Even the United States is said to be long by royal discent to the tribe of Manasseh (Genesis xlviii, 19.) Aden, Singapore and Gibraltar are provided for as strategic centers in the general scheme.

It is plausible, but imaginary, without any reasonable grounds, and subversie of the correct interpretation of the Bible. The fact that many people in English speaking countries accept the theory reminds one of the old saying that "Scripture is like a nose of wax; it can be molded to suit any man's face."

QUESTION.

Brooklyn, N. Y.

(1) What is the present religion of the Netherlands, Dutch Reformed or Lutheran, and since when?

(2) Who were the Girondists? How did their name originate? Please give me the date of their appearance in French politics.

ANSWER.

(1) The prevailing religion of Holland is that Calvinistic branch of Prorestantism known as the Dutch Reformed Church. Its dominance in the Netherlands dates from the rule of William of Orange (1533-1584), who wrested the independence of his country from Philip the Second of Spain. The Synod of Dort (1618) formulated the creed of this church as found in the Heidelberg Catechism.

(2) The Girndists—so named after the province of Gironde, one of the departments of France—were the moderate party of the French revolution, whose aversion to its extreme measures brought them to the scaffold. Led by Brissot and Condorcet, they endeavored to apply their idealistic politics to a chaotic situation. For a time they succeeded, and during 1791 and 1792 exercised governmental control. But the Jacobins, headed by Danton, Marat and Robespierre, supplanted and destroyed them. Then came the Terror, which raged from October, 1792 to June, 1794 during wrich period thousands of innocent victims were sent to the guillotine. The Girondists are a historic proof that reason, learning and oratory are useless against fanatical nationalism and mob fury.

Lamartine's account of them is a fine literary achievement, but it is biased and inaccurate as a record. Read Paul Van Dyke's "The Story of France" and the works of Hillaire Belloc. Do not overlook Carlyle's great book on "The French Revolution."

SPLASH! She Swims to Conquer

By Eleanore Burnett.

Copyright 1930, by Central Press Association

READ THIS FIRST:

Kitty Wilmot, secretary to Ellery Goss, assists Gordon Platt, confidential man, whom she loves, in running down a "leak." Goss' chief clerk, Atlee Wainright, proposes marriage, which Kitty refuses. Boss Kelliher asks her to work for him.

She defeats a professional swimmer in a race but indignantly rejects money a gambler offers her.

To help Gordon, Kitty goes to a private detective agency, where she is shocked to find Gayle, the gambler who bet on her, in charge. But she is happy to learn from him that Platt returned his money; and falls asleep that night dreaming of the kiss Platt never tried to give her.

Her home-town lover, John Spurgeon, arrives unexpectedly in New York; Kitty stages a party for him where she sees Platt, who cuts her dead. When she speaks to Platt he denies his own name.

She refuses a proposal from John. Next day Platt tells her he was doing secret work and did not want the suspect to know his name; Kitty hears for the first time of Gila Mine stock. Taking important dictation from Goss, she lays a plan to foil the information thief, learns that Spurgeon is investing in Gila Mine, which she knows will drop, and resolves to help him, secretly. To get money to help him she determines to swim as a professional. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Kitty decided to go into the race.

Chapter 28.

"Mr. Gayle, I've got to make two thousand dollars and make it quick!"

In his little office Gayle turned curiously to "Miss Smith."

"Why?" he asked directly.

"I can't tell you. But I've got to have it!"

Gayle looked at her quizzically.

"Detectives are not usually asked to trail money!" he suggested. "Not to be short or anything like that, why tell me?"

"Because you said a lot of money could be won by a dark horse in the interstate annual swimming meet," responded Kitty, eagerly.

"Oh, ho! Sets the wind in that quarter! You want to race, do you?"

Kitty paled a little. If she said yes, she was committed. "I don't want to!" she said honestly. "I don't want to be a professional swimmer. But I want the money more than I want not to turn pro. What prizes are hung up in what races?"

"It's not the prizes that will make you money!" answered Mr. Gayle. "It's a side bet."

"But—but I haven't any money to bet on myself, and I wouldn't know where to put in up if I had." Kitty felt suddenly relieved.

"The entries closed yesterday!" Mr. Gayle let the words fall one by one.

Kitty sighed, rather happily. "Well, that ends it, then!" She rose "I thank you for listening to me, and—"

"Sit down, please. The entries closed yesterday. But before they closed I entered Miss Smith, of New York, for the hundred and the two hundred yard."

Kitty looked at him in blank amazement. Then her color came.

"You entered me?" she spoke quickly, indignantly. "I told you I wouldn't race...."

"Softly, softly!" cried Gayle. "I didn't enter you. I entered 'Miss Smith'."

Kitty sat down, weakly. "I—I beg your pardon!" she gasped.

"Granted!" Gayle was frankly amused. "I may have a Miss Smith among my acquaintances, and I may not. What I am trying to tell you is that if you want to race as Miss Smith, you are entered. If you don't, no harm done. As for the side bet, I'll give you an eighty-twenty split, same as I tried to pay you before."

Kitty's hand went to her heart. "Oh, what will he think of me!" she cried low. "After I told him I could not take your money...."

"You mean Platt?" asked Gayle shrewdly. "He won't be there. I happen to know he'll be in Boston on the fifteenth. Well, how about it?"

A vision of Gordon in Boston; of herself deceiving him, and doing the very thing she had been "too nice" to do before, flashed over her. "I'll have to tell him!" she confessed to herself. "It wouldn't be honest not to. But—I don't have to tell Mr. Gayle."

"Can I make two thousand dollars if I win?" she asked.

"I probably can get five to one against you; I'm willing to take a chance. If I can get five to one or better, I'll put up a couple of grands just to be sporty. Which are you best at—the one or two hundred?"

"Oh, either—both!" cried Kitty. "But suppose I lose?"

"We'll both be out of luck!" grinned Gayle. "I don't ask anything but that you do your best."

He was really rather pleasant looking, but to Kitty he was Nemesis. Yet it seemed the only way she could help her friend. Better swim and take "a split" than have John lose; far better than break Mr. Goss' confidence.

"Shake hands on it, Miss Smith!" smiled Gayle.

Kitty put her hand in his and stood committed.

On the morning of the fifteenth Kitty appeared in Fatty Hemming's office. He was reported as "very busy," but Kitty turned on her dimple, and only had to wait ten minutes before she passed through the clerk's offices to Fatty's private sanctum. When he saw his visitor he jumped to his feet, pulled out a chair and took her hands in both of his.

"Mr. Hemming," she began. "I want to ask you—"

"Where do you get that Mister stuff?" he asked.

"Why, I thought—in an office—I didn't want to presume!" Kitty crimsoned.

"All right, Miss Wilmot!" he laughed at her openly. "I'll be Mr. Hemming at your service! What can I do for you?"

"You can promise me your word of honor not to tell any human being what I'm going to tell you!" she answered.

Fatty's eyes narrowed. "I don't like to make promises in the dark!"

"Then I'll have to find a stock broker who will!" Kitty replied firmly. "I thought you kept the business secrets of your customers, like a doctor or a lawyer."

"Oh, business! Sure, I'll promise!"

"I want you to sell a hundred shares of Gila Mine, on margin. I can't give you the margin until tomorrow morning. Don't sell it until then; maybe I can't get it!"

"You mean buy, of course. It's going up." Fatty drew an order pad towards him.

"I mean sell!" answered Kitty.

Fatty stared at her. "What makes you think it's going down?"

But Kitty was ready with her answer, praying in her heart it would deceive him. "I went to a fortune teller!" she answered, unsmiling. "She told me!"

Fatty laughed. "Don't be foolish!" he warned her. But Kitty insisted. Fatty spent ten minutes trying to persuade her not to be "foolish." At the end, a little peeved with her obstinacy, he gave in. "Of course, if you insist on losing your money, I might as well have the commission as well as any one else!" he snapped. "Don't say I didn't warn you!"

"And don't you forget your promise!" reminded Kitty. "The fortune teller said it was a secret. "I'll either have the money for you tomorrow at eighty-thirty, or you don't sell!"

Of the morality of the transaction Kitty had no thought. Had she been better trained in ethics she might well have hesitated at attempting to profit by the knowledge she had obtained from the confidential report Mr. Goss had dictated to her. But that she was violating his confidence in using her knowledge never occurred to her. She was not trying to make money for herself, only to keep a friend from losing. That she had no right to use her knowledge at all was a thought which had no place in her plan. John was in trouble; Kitty had convinced herself her false notes had reached Fatty and that she was thus responsible for John's "investment." She must save him. The only way was to risk Gordon's displeasure and swim as a professional. That was a great sacrifice. If she won, she was ready to risk her winnings for her friend.

"If the stock should go up, he'll make money. I'll lose what I win in the race—if I win. I won't care. But if as I know, the stock goes down, then I'll win and John will lose. And then Fatty will have to come across and tell John he sold for him, instead of bought. I'll manage Fatty, all right—he'll do it for me. But can I win against those professional swimmers?"

Kitty wished with all her heart that Gordon was in town, that she mibght tell him in advance. Then, contrarily, she was glad she couldn't tell him; maybe he'd just insist on lending her the money for John, and that she had already decided she could not permit. But she hated the deception she was to practice; she saw herself so plainly at the little supper after her racce in the East Side Natatorium; how she had shuddered away from Gayle's "split," as offered by Gordon, the light of approval in Gordon's eyes; his emphatic "I knew you wouldn't take it!".

She shivered a little; would Gordon think very hardly of her when he knew? If only she might tell him herself; if only no one she knew competed!

She declined an invitation to Sally's for supper; put off Hattie Bridges, who wanted her to come and spend the evening and told Bert Croyden, over the 'phone, that she had an engagement that evening when he asked her to go to a show.

Then her heart failed her. For Bert's voice came over the wire; "I'm sorry. Then I think I'll go to the Columbia to watch the meet tonight."

Bert would tell Sally and Atlee, of course—worse, he might tell the reporters her real name!

A very miserable girl—and mental misery is no state of mind for a swimmer to have when going into severe competition—paid off her taxi and walked slowly into the Columbia Natatorium at a few minutes after seven that evening. Not even the sight of Gayle, in the lobby, a roll of money between his fingers, was any comfort. "Deceitful, deceitful!" she cried in her heart as she went slowly up to the locker room to dress.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The Thing That Happened

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

A thing at first may be perplexing
And end in being sadly vexing.
—Peter Rabbit.

There was nothing strange in the sudden disappearance of Whitefoot, the Wood Mouse. He is such a timid little fellow that he disappears at the slightest sound or movement. You see, there are so many hungry folk looking for Whitefoot that he cannot afford to take any chances. So he is forever dodging out of sight when there is no need to dodge, simply because he is not sure. Peter Rabbit knew this and waited for him to return.

But suddenly something happened that put all thought of Whitefoot from Peter's mind. He heard a song, the same pretty little song that had so surprised and then puzzled him before, the dream song, as his friends called it. You should have seen the sudden way in which Peter sat up, and the look of surprise and delight on his face. Eagerly he looked for the singer, but in vain. Not a bird was to be seen. Yet that that song came from the throat of a bird Peter hadn't a shadow of doubt.

Once more he heard that little song. This time he was certain that it came from a little tree back of that big old stump. Peter hurried around to the other side of the stump and eagerly looked for the singer. He could see all through that little tree. No one was there. He was sure of it. The little singer must have flown before he got where he could see. Anyway, this is what Peter thought.

"What are you looking for in that little tree?" asked the squeaky voice of Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

Peter turned to find Whitefoot peering down at him from the top of the old stump. "Oh, Whitefoot, did you hear it?" cried Peter eagerly.

"What?" asked Whitefoot.

"That song!" replied Peter excitedly. "I heard it twice. Didn't you hear it!"

"It must have been while I was gone," said Whitefoot. "Where did it come from?"

"I thought it came from this little tree, but I couldn't be sure of it," replied Peter. "I hurried around here, but if the singer was here he had flown before I could get a glimpse of him. Of course he may not have been in this tree. You know how hard it is to tell just where the whistle of Winsome Bluebird comes from; it seems to come from everywhere and nowhere in particular. It sounds way off when Winsome is right near, and sometimes it sounds near when Winsome is some distance away. I think this song must be like that. Oh, dear, I do wish you could hear it. Let's keep still awhile and perhaps we will hear it."

"Oh, Whitefoot, did you hear it?" cried Peter, eagerly.

So Peter and Whitefoot kept very still for a long time, but the little singer did not sing again. "He must have flown away," said Peter at last with a sigh of disappointment.

"Perhaps you frightened him," said Whitefoot. "Excuse me a minute. I wont be gone long." He ran down the side of the old stump and scurried away along one of his secret little paths.

Not two minutes after Whitefoot disappeared Peter heard that pretty little song again. This time Peter was sure that it came from some bushes growing around an old log on the ground and nearly hiding it. He wanted to rush over there, but feared to frighten the singer. He wished Whitefoot would return. Perhaps the two of them together might find that singer.

"Well," squeaked Whitefoot, "what are you staring at now?" He was back on the old stump.

"Oh, Whitefoot, what did you go away for? I heard that song again while you were gone and this time I am sure it came from among those bushes over there," cried Peter.

"You go over there and I'll watch to see if any one flies," said Whitefoot.

So Peter hopped over to the bushes while Whitefoot kept watch from the top of the stump. Peter hunted and hunted and Whitefoot kept watch, but all in vain.

"It certainly is queer," said Peter.

"Isn't it?" replied Whitefoot.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

ORGANIZE HOME IF YOU'RE OVERWEIGHT; EVERYONE MUST BE IN SYMPATHY WITH YOU.

The organization of the overweight person's home is the most important part of the reduction cure.

Dr. Clendening

I am not going to set down a list of menus because I know what you will do. You will pounce on them, and start to try them out. You will neglect all the other things which make for success. And then if you are not sylph-like at the end of a week you will blame me.

Everybody in the household must be in sympathy with the victim, especially the cook. This is not always easy to arrange, for the good old reason that "nobody loves a fat man."

Then the mental attitude of the "patient" must be right. You are going on a diet 'not for an hour, not for a day," but so long as ye both shall live.

Diet is the main part of the active treatment.

First, no alcohol. You are not just taking a ride on the water wagon. You are up to stay. Alcohol spares fat. It yields seven calories per teaspoonful, and is burned more readily than foodstuffs, thus saving them to be turned into fat.

Second, the sweets. Carbohydrates are probably not as active in forming fat as was once supposed, but they must be eliminated from the diet in part, just the same. The easiest place to do this is sweets. Cut out desserts, cake, sugar in your coffee, candy, ice cream sodas, maple syrup, etc. One slice of bread at a meal is enough. Saccharine is a substance without food value, which is sweeter than sugar. You can put a pellet of that in your coffee.

Fats! They are your worst enemy. My eminent rival, in advising the public on health matters, Mr. Samuel Blythe, informed the readers of a well-known magazine a short time ago that the old ideas about the influence of starches on fat formation were all wrong, and that fat makes fat. I agree with him.

The elimination of fat is hard, because it includes all the sauces and dressings which give so much flavor and gusto to the food. But once done, it yields great results. "Flavor and gusto" are your enemies, anyhow.

No Salad dressing. There are 500 calories in an ordinary serving of French dressing or mayonnaise.

No gravy. Little or no butter. Little or no cream.

Just eliminating sweets and fats will go a long way towards keeping your weight down. But think what a lot of good things to eat remain for you.

Fruits, eggs, fish, toast and coffee for breakfast.

Clear soup or broth, a serving of meat, choice of spinach, asparagus, sauerkraut, onions, green beans, cabbage, artichokes, broccoli, rhubarb, celery, lettuce and tomato for lunch.

The same or green beans turnips, string beans, beets or green peas with a piece of toast and an orange, slice of pineapple, some berries or a peach for dessert, with black coffee for dinner.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

OLD BILL IN MONEY MATTERS

Old Bill's attitude to money
In these careless times seemed funny.
Bills disturbed him, debts upset him,
Owing money used to fret him.
Large or small the obligation
From the very day he made it,
This was Old Bill's exclamation:
"I can't rest until I've paid it!"

If he owed a hundred dollars
Old Bill stuck to saw-edged collars
And the "good-enough-to-do" things
Saying: "I can't strut in new things
Till on airs and manners breezy
Just to make a pretty showing.
I don't feel the least bit easy
Meeting people I am owing.

"Good friends tell me not to worry,
Just forget it; do not hurry,
Take your time; pay when you can,
That's no way to be a man.
Friendship can't be kept with small ways
Though they mean it when they say it,
What I owe to friends is always
On my conscience till I pay it."

Owing money made him fretful,
Ill at ease, but not forgetful.
None could coax him to evade it,
He'd not rest until he'd paid it.
And I think we'd all be better
And our friendship stronger build ed
Could we say of every debtor
That he worried just as Bill did.

CHICAGO BUMS' VILLAGE WIPED OUT BY POLICE

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—(AP)—A whole colony of shacks improvised along the shore of Lake Michigan by vagrants against the coming of winter was wiped out by a tractor under police orders. The fragments were burned after they had been classified as eyesores.

One of the vagrants, unofficially referred to as the "mayor" of the colony, watched the tractor as it pushed over the shacks.

Stocks on New York Exchange Pushed Upward for Fifth Successive Day; Firm at Close

Wheat Given a Downward Push

Closes Unchanged to 2⅞c Lower; Corn 2⅛ to 2⅝c Off.

By International News Service.
CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 15

Grains finished generally weaker today. December wheat finished unchanged to ⅛c off, while other wheat deliveries dropped ⅛ to 2⅞c. Corn was down 2⅛ to 2⅝c and oats ⅜ to 1⅛c. Rye closed ¾ to 2⅛c lower.

May and July wheat and all deliveries of rye slumped to new lows for the season during the abbreviated session.

December wheat ruled steady to firm during the early trading while deferred deliveries were easy. There was further buying of December evident early around 73c by houses that purchased freely Friday and which the trade regarded as for the account of the farm board agencies.

The late deliveries of wheat were lower in sympathy with weakness in Liverpool. The latter market closed 1⅛ to 1⅜d. lower in line with further liquidation.

Corn displayed weakness in sympathy with deferred futures of wheat and lack of important demand.

Oats and rye covered a narrow range with trade moderate.

Estimated carlot receipts were: Wheat, 17 cars; corn, 139 cars; oats, 48 cars.

Strong Buying Demand Shown

Industrial and Utility Favorites Soar to Best Levels of Week.

International News Service.
NEW YORK, Nov. 15

A closing spurt in a firm and active week-end market carried prices of the industrial and utility favorites to the best levels of the week and completed a recovery extending from 5 to 10 points in a long list of the active shares.

For the fifth day in succession the general average of all stocks closed higher, with strong buying demand in evidence near the closing gong. The steel, utility, amusement and electrical stocks were the leaders in the week-end move while the rails coppers were under profit-taking and rails inactive and dull.

United States Steel at 148½ showed a recovery of 10½ points from the low price of the week. Big steer was in good demand today and closed at 147⅞, for a gain of 1 point.

Loews led the closing spurt in the amusements and finished the session 2 points higher, at 57¼. Warner Brothers closed 2¼ points higher, at 17⅜ and Fox up 2⅜ at 32¼.

The Dow Jones averages show a gain of 2½ points for the industrial and a fraction advance for the rails. Transactions on the big board were approximately 1,700,000 shares.

Bethlehem Steel made a net gain of 1 point at its final price of 66¼. Radio was up 1⅜ at 17⅝; Radio-Keith up ⅞ at 21⅞; International Tel. & Tel. up 1⅜ at 30¼; Westinghouse up 1⅝ at 103⅜; Union Pacific up 2½ at 191¾; Chrysler Motors up ½ at 17; Anaconda Copper down 1¼ at 40⅝.

The market made short work of the overnight accumulation of selling orders in the trading today, and was once more ready to assume its forward movement.

The public utility stocks and the industrials felt the weight of early profit-taking, dropping off a point or two, but in most cases the lost ground was recovered before the end of the first hour, once again the week-end business reports were more encouraging in what they predicted high on the recovery to 147¼, reaching than in what has actualy been accomplished along the line of trade recovery.

United States Steel moved up to a new new high ground for the fifth successive session and recovering about 9 points from the low of the week. The amusement stocks and the radio stocks were also in good form with Loews up more than 2 points at 57⅝; Fox up 2 at 31¾; Paramount up 1½; Warner up 2½ and Radio-Keith up 1¼. The coppers sold off under profit-taking at the start but sold in good volume around the level of Friday's close.

Radio's spurt to above 17 was a feature of the low-priced specialties. Better buying of the oil stocks followed reports of the decreasing flow of crude oil and the prspects of a discontinuance of the gasoline price war that has been raging for the last three weeks.

Copper commanded 12 cents a pound among all of the principal producers, according to reports from metal trade circles. The week-end commodity markets were steady, with grain recovering its early losses and cotton off a few points.

United States Steel spurted brilliantly to 147½ in the second hour, leading a new advance which was participated in by American Can, Fox Film, Vanadium and other favorites. The coppers were in good demand in this period, while the rails were the principal laggards. General Electric reached a ne whigh on the move at 50½ and Westinghouse spurted to 104.

Irregularity, with narrow price changes, marked the opening of the stock market today.

U. S Steel was down ⅝ at 146¼; Westinghouse down ⅝ at 102; Union Carbide down ½ at 61½; Allied Chemical up ½ at 205¼; Atlantic Refining up ⅜ at 23⅛; Standard Oil N. J. up ⅛ at 54⅞; Chrysler down ⅜ at 15⅞.

A block of 10,000 shares of Anaconda sold at 41, down ⅞. Kennecott Copper was up ⅛ at 32⅛; Inspiration up ⅜ at 13⅞.

Utilities were slightly irregular, with American Waterworks up ⅞ at 67⅝; Consolidated Gas down ½ to 91⅜; North American down ⅛ at 71⅞; United Corp down ¼ at 19⅝; United Gas Improvement down ¼ at 28; Columbia Gas down ⅝ at 39⅝.

Union Pacific jumped 3 points to 192¼, leading the advance in the rails. New York Central was up ¾ at 136¾; Chesapeake and Ohio up ¼ at 41⅞; Erie down ⅛ at 29⅜; Public Service N. J., up ½ at 76½.

American Can was unchanged at 116⅞; American Tel. and Tel. down ¼ at 191¼; Du Pont down ⅜ at 92; General Motors up ¼ at 36½; Radio Keith up ⅛ at 21⅛; Woolworth down ⅜ at 59⅝; Houston Oil unchanged at 42.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.
By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Nov. 15

The week-end market was steady, with further recoveries in a long list of the well known domestic and foreign issues. Strength and activity of industrial stocks and specialties stimulated a better demand for the convertibles, most of which reached higher price ground.

Armour of Delaware 5½s rose about 2 points to 80; Pathe Exchange 7s jumped 4½ to 52½ and Warner Brothers 6s were up 1¼ at 72. New York, Ontario & Western 4s were again under pressure and sold off about 3 points at 40⅛; adjustment and income bonds of the St. Paul and other rail systems were inactive and irregular.

In the foreign list, German Agricultural Bank 6s were down fractionally at 73⅝; Cuban 4s down ½ at 81 and Sao Paulo 5s down ½ at 79½; Liberty first 4¼s sold at 102.24, and fourth 4¼s at 103.20. General Theatre Equipment 6s moved up 2 points tt 75 and International Tel. & Tel. 4½s were up 1½ at 95½.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 15

CATTLE—With receipts slightly heavier and eastern dressed beef markets very dull, stock cattle sold sharply and unevenly lower this week; short feds, medium quality steers broke 50 to 75c and in extreme $1.00 and there was a similar loss on fed heifers; best long fed yearlings sold steady, fat grass cows and heifers slumped 25 to 50c; the break in fat cattle slowed up the feeder demand and gains noted earlier in the week were mostly lost before the close; heavy feeders became expecially unpopular; all classes nominally steady today.

CLOSE: Cattle receipts, 200; compared with a week ago: Fed steers and yearlings unevenly 25 to 75c lower; yearlings showing least decline; she stock 25 to 50c lower; bulls and vealers steady; stockers and feeders fully 25c higher; bulk for the week; fed steers and yearlings $9.50@11.50; numerous loods yearlings, $12.00@12.75; few loads $13.00@13.50; grass heifers, $6.25@7.50, grass cows, $4.25@5.50; few loads, $6.00@6.75; cutter grades, $3.00@4.00; medium native bulls, $4.50@5.00; westerns, $4.00@4.25; practical top vealers, $11.00; stocker and feeder steers, $7.00@8.75; choice yearlings, $9.00@9.75; choice steers stock calves, $10.35; stock heifers, $6.75@8.25.

STATE WINS IN $100,000 SUIT

the court, at the session beginning January 5, with the argument limited to whether warrants issued without a levy would be void even though issued by an irrigation district that is sufficiently a de facto corporation to be otherwise liable. The irrigation district was in Loup county.

The court authorized reargument of a suit brought by Charles G. Wallace against Mads, Charles and Arthur Anderson in an attempt to recover rents for foreclosed lands. The case is from Adams county and will be reargued at the January 5 session.

Reargument of a compensation case from Douglas county brought by Dora Moses, administratrix of the estate of Lee Moses against the Sigmund Eisner Co., was denied. The defendant company claimed that Lee Moses was not in its employ when he suffered an accident which led to his death but the court held otherwise.

WEAVER LEAVES VACANCIES FOR BRYAN TO FILL

No appointment by Governor Weaver is likely to be made either to the tax commissioner's office, which will become vacant December 1 by the resignation of its incumbent, Harry W. Scott, or to that of state fire marshal, vacated by the death of John C. Trouton several weeks ago.

Deputies and other assistants in the two departments will be able to carry on the work for the short period up to the first of the year, Governor Weaver thinks. As Governor-elect Bryan will take office on January 8 and fill the places then with men of his own selection, Mr. Weaver does not consider it worth while to make temporary appointments for the interim.

Thereby the state will save one month's salary in the tax commissioner's office, while two months' pay for the fire marshal will remain in the treasury. The total saving will be in the neighborhood of $900.

Mrs. Maud Butler, budget supervisor in the tax commissioner's office, will be in charge of it after Mr. Scott leaves. The fire marshal's activities are being looked after by L. J. Butcher, chief deputy in the office.

NORRIS REPORTS $500 G. O. P. GIFT

Washington, D. C., $250; R. P. Brandt, Washington, $50; C. E. Taylor, St. Paul, Neb. $25; R. J. Hunt, Logansport, Ind. $25; and H. Buckingham, Lawton, Okla., $20.

$310 Reported By Bryan.

The statement turned in by Governor-elect C. W. Bryan is a very brief one. It shows $300 donated to the democratic state committee and $10 for the nomination filing fee.

Congressman-elect J. N. Norton of the Fourth district reports $30 paid for the privilege of making a radio talk, but omits expenditures for outlay in traveling, newspaper advertising, printing, stationery, postage, etc.

Lieutenant Governor-elect Ted Metcalfe paid the republican state committee $100 and spent $75 for printing.

The total sum of $1781 was expended by E. R. Burke, candidate for congress on the democratic ticket in the Second district. Most of this went for newspaper advertisements and radio broadcasting.

South Omaha Stock Men at Ag College

Twenty-fifth Annual Inspection Trip Made by Group Saturday Morning.

Nearly three hundred South Omaha livestock market men were at the agricultural college campus Saturday morning for their twenty-fifth annual inspection trip. The delegation came by special train and brought their own band. They attended the Nebraska-Missouri football game in the afternoon.

Prof. H. J. Gramlich, head of the animal husbandry department at the college, welcomed the Omaha men at the judging pavilion on the campus. He introduced various members of the animal husbandry department to the Omaha delegation.

Though the Omaha people made no inspection trip to view all the livestock at the college, one animal of each kind was shown before the group at the judging pavillion.

At noon the livestock men were served a special luncheon at the student activities building on the campus. The institution management class, under the direction of Miss Bernice Elwell, college cafeteria director, supervised the luncheon. Favors to the football game were given each Omahan.

Stocks on New York Exchange Pushed Upward for Fifth Successive Day; Firm at Close

Wheat Given a Downward Push

Closes Unchanged to 2⅞c Lower; Corn 2⅛ to 2⅝c Off.

By International News Service.
CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 15

Grains finished generally weaker today. December wheat finished unchanged to ⅛c off, while other wheat deliveries dropped ⅛ to 2⅞c. Corn was down 2⅛ to 2⅝c and oats ⅜ to 1⅜c. Rye closed ⅜ to 2⅛c lower.

May and July wheat and all deliveries of rye slumped to new lows for the season during the abbreviated session.

December wheat ruled steady to firm during the early trading while deferred deliveries were easy. There was further buying of December evident early around 73c by houses that purchased freely Friday and which the trade regarded as for the account of the farm board agencies.

The late deliveries of wheat were lower in sympathy with weakness in Liverpool. The latter market closed 1⅛ to 1⅝d. lower in line with further liquidation.

Corn displayed weakness in sympathy with deferred futures of wheat and lack of important demand.

Oats and rye covered a narrow range with trade moderate.

Estimated carlot receipts were: Wheat, 17 cars; corn, 139 cars; oats, 48 cars.

Strong Buying Demand Shown

Industrial and Utility Favorites Soar to Best Levels of Week.

International News Service.
NEW YORK, Nov. 15

A closing spurt in a firm and active week-end market carried prices of the industrial and utility favorites to the best levels of the week and completed a recovery extending from 5 to 10 points in a long list of the active shares.

For the fifth day in succession the general average of all stocks closed higher, with strong buying demand in evidence near the closing gong. The steel, utility, amusement and electrical stocks were the leaders in the week-end move while the coppers were under profit-taking and rails inactive and dull.

United States Steel at 148½ showed a recovery of 10½ points from the low price of the week. Big steer was in good demand today and closed at 147⅞, for a gain of 1 point.

Loews led the closing spurt in the amusements and finished the session 2 points higher, at 57¼. Warner Brothers closed 2¼ points higher, at 17⅞ and Fox up 2⅜ at 32¼.

The Dow Jones averages show a gain of 2½ points for the industrial and a fraction advance for the rails. Transactions on the big board were approximately 1,700,000 shares.

Bethlehem Steel made a net gain of 1 point at its fnial price of 66¼. Radio was up 1⅜ at 17⅝; Radio-Keith up ⅞ at 21⅞; International Tel. & Tel. up 1⅜ at 30¼; Westinghouse up 1⅝ at 103⅜; Union Pacific up 2½ at 191¾; Chrysler Motors up ½ at 17; Anaconda Copper down 1¼ at 40⅝.

The market made short work of the overnight accumulation of selling orders in the trading today, and was once more ready to assume its forward movement.

The public utility stocks and the industrials felt the weight of early profit-taking, dropping off a point or two, but in most cases the lost ground was recovered before the end of the first hour, once again the week-end business reports were more encouraging in what they predicted high on the recovery to 147¼, reaching than in what has actualy been accomplished along the line of trade recovery.

Un ted States Steel moved up to a new new high ground for the fifth successive session and recovering about 9 points from the low of the week. The amusement stocks and the radio stocks were also in good form with Loews up more than 2 points at 57⅝; Fox up 2 at 31¾; Paramount up 1½; Warner up 2½ and Radio-Keith up 1¼. The coppers sold off under profit-taking at the start but sold in good volume around the level of Friday's close.

Radio's spurt to above 17 was a feature of the low-priced specialties. Better buying of the oil stocks followed reports of the decreasing flow of crude oil and the prspects of a discontinuance of the gasoline price war that has been raging for the last three weeks.

Copper commanded 12 cents a pound among all of the principal producers, according to reports from metal trade circles. The week-end commodity markets were steady, with grain recovering its early losses and cotton off a few points.

United States Steel spurted brilliantly to 147½ in the second hour, leading a new advance which was participated in by American Can, Fox Film, Vanadium and other favorites. The coppers were in good demand in this period, while the rails were the principal laggards. General Electric reached a ne whigh on the move at 50½ and Westinghouse spurted to 104.

Irregularity, with narrow price changes, marked the opening of the stock market today.

U S Steel was down ⅝ at 146¼; Westinghouse down ⅜ at 102; Union Carbide down ½ at 61½; Allied Chemical up ½ at 205¼; Atlantic Refining up ⅜ at 23⅛; Standard Oil N. J. up ⅛ at 54⅞; Chrysler down ⅜ at 15⅞.

A block of 10,000 shares of Anaconda sold at 41, down ⅞. Kennecott Copper was up ⅛ at 32⅛; Inspiration up ⅜ at 13⅞.

Utilities were slightly irregular, with American Waterworks up ⅞ at 67⅝; Consolidated Gas down ½ to 91⅜; North American down ⅛ at 71⅞; United Corp down ¼ at 19⅝; United Gas Improvement down ¼ at 28; Columbia Gas down ⅝ at 39⅝.

Union Pacific jumped 3 points to 192¼, leading the advance in the rails. New York Central was up ¾ at 136½; Chesapeake and Ohio up ¼ at 41⅞; Erie down ⅛ at 29⅝; Public Service N. J., up ½ at 76½.

American Can was unchanged at 116⅝; American Tel. and Tel. down ¼ at 191¼; Du Pont down ⅜ at 92; General Motors up ¼ at 36¼; Radio Keith up ⅛ at 21⅛; Woolworth down ⅝ at 59⅜; Houston Oil unchanged at 42.

WEAVER LEAVES VACANCIES FOR BRYAN TO FILL

No appointment by Governor Weaver is likely to be made either to the tax commissioner's office, which will become vacant December 1 by the resignation of its incumbent, Harry W. Scott, or to that of state fire marshal, vacated by the death of John C. Trouton several weeks ago.

Deputies and other assistants in the two departments will be able to carry on the work for the short period up to the first of the year, Governor Weaver thinks. As Governor-elect Bryan will take office on January 8 and fill the places then with men of his own selection, Mr. Weaver does not consider it worth while to make temporary appointments for the interim.

Thereby the state will save one month's salary in the tax commissioner's office, while two months' pay for the fire marshal will remain in the treasury. The total saving will be in the neighborhood of $900.

Mrs. Maud Butler, budget supervisor in the tax commissioner's office, will be in charge of it after Mr. Scott leaves. The fire marshal's activities are being looked after by L. J. Butcher, chief deputy in the office.

The statement turned in by Governor-elect C. W. Bryan is a very brief one. It shows $300 donated to the democratic state committee and $10 for the nomination filing fee.

Congressman-elect J. N. Norton of the Fourth district reports $30 paid for the privilege of making a radio talk, but omits expenditures for outlay in traveling, newspaper advertising, printing, stationery, postage, etc.

Lieutenant Governor-elect Ted Metcalfe paid the republican state committee $100 and spent $75 for printing.

The total sum of $1781 was expended by E. R. Burke, candidate for congress on the democratic ticket in the Second district. Most of this went for newspaper advertisements and radio broadcasting.

South Omaha Stock Men at Ag College

Twenty-fifth Annual Inspection Trip Made by Group Saturday Morning.

Nearly three hundred South Omaha livestock market men were at the agricultural college campus Saturday morning for their twenty-fifth annual inspection trip. The delegation came by special train and brought their own band. They attended the Nebraska-Missouri football game in the afternoon.

Prof. H. J. Gramlich, head of the animal husbandry department at the college, welcomed the Omaha men at the judging pavilion on the campus. He introduced various members of the animal husbandry department to the Omaha delegation

Though the Omaha people made no inspection trip to view all the livestock at the college, one animal of each kind was shown before the group at the judging pavillion.

At noon the livestock men were served a special luncheon at the student activities building on the campus. The institution management class, under the direction of Miss Bernice Elwell, college cafeteria director, supervised the luncheon. Favors to the football game were given each Omahan.

BEATRICE WATER CASE COMES UP

Objector Files an Appeal In the Supreme Court.

Fight against an addition to the Beatrice water works system as authorized in a special city election last spring was carried to the Supreme court Saturday.

Elmer L. Hevelone, whose suit to enjoin the city of Beatrice, its commissioners and the Layne-Western Co., from carrying on work to develop the waterworks system, was dismissed in District court, filed an appeal in the Supreme court.

At the same time a motion to advance the case for early hearing was filed by the defendants. They claim that waterworks development of Beatrice will be held up pending decision and that the city's health is endangered by delay.

The company which is constructing th addition has already located a new water supply for Beatrice, the Hevelone petition states, after drilling thirty-five test wells and expending approximately $18,700.

Hevelone claims the election was invalid because not properly authorized by the city council. He also claims that the work was not approved by a majority of the legal voters but only by a majority of those voting and that only construction of an entire waterworks system could be authorized, whereas this is but a part.

Poucher Discusses Masonic Teachings

Necessity for Service Stressed by Order Declares Speaker at Scottish Rite Reunion Banquet.

John F. Poucher of Omaha, principal speaker at the banquet which terminated the fifty-sixth reunion of Scottish Rite Masons Friday evening, paid glowing tribute to the teachings of Masonry, and particularly to the creation in men of the impression of the necessity for service. Under the influence of the order men become greater and stronger, he asserted. Dr. Poucher's address was enlivened by sparkling witticisms and clever anecdotes, the hundreds who packed the banquet hall being kept in the best of humor.

John E. Curtiss acted as toastmaster, being introduced by Howard Wilson, master of kadosh. Secretary Fred D. Cornell told of the progress and finances of the rite and the administration of its educational fund, which in a decade has loaned $110,000 to 620 boys and girls. Frank C. Patton, Omaha, sovereign grand inspector general, and C. D. Traphagen, deputy inspector general, spoke briefly, the class oration being given by Dr. Charles H. Arnold.

Dr. Arnold expressed on behalf of the class appreciation of the impressive manner in which the degrees had been conferred and assurance that the lessons sought to be inculcated had not been without effect. He asked the co-operation of members of the class and of all Masons in making conditions better in all lines, and especially in the enforcement of the laws.

Norris Offers Compromise on Muscle Shoals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—(AP)—Differences between President Hoover and some of his republican leaders in the senate over the Norris measure for government operation of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., power and nitrate plant remained to be settled today before the threat of an extra session of congress next spring is dissipated.

Senator McNary of Oregon, the assistant republican leader, is standing firm for the government operation bill which is in conflict with the house measure for private operation. McNary is chairman of the conferees on this legislation.

A compromise between the senate and house is being sought. Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, author of the senate's government operation measure, already has offered a compromise whereby the power plant at Muscle Shoals would be under government operation and control and the nitrate plant available to private lease. The house conferees so far have refused this.

Miss Martin Named State Director of Nursing Education

Miss Carroll Martin, who has been engaged for two years past in equipping and organizing the nurse corps in one of the hospitals under the commonwealth fund of the state of New York, has been appointed as director of nursing education for the state welfare department of Nebraska and began her duties in that capacity Saturday. The appointment was made by Governor Weaver through Welfare-Labor Secretray Follard.

The place filled by Miss Martin has been vacant for nearly a year since the resignation of the former director, Miss Phebe Kandel, who is now in charge of nursing education at the Greeley, Colo., state teachers' college. The salary is $2,400 a year.

Miss Martin gained her foundation experience in nursing at the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago, and later served in the same institution as instructor and supervisor of nurse training. She was for a time executive secretary of the Chicago central council for nursing education. Her work in that position took her into a number of middle western states.

She was also assistant director of the Wisconsin bureau of nursing at one time.

The other appeal is that of Charles N. Hinds, Odell banker. He was convicted of violation of state banking laws and given 1 to 5 years.

TENCH DESCRIBES NEW METHODS OF REPLACING TEETH

Because they are not aware of the numerous appliances to replace missing teeth, thousands suffer pain and disfigurement, according to Dr. Russell Tench of New York City in his address before the Cornhusker Dental Study club Friday evening at the Lincoln hotel.

Dr. Tench explained that improved technique has been in existence for ten years, but the time required to put them into effect and the greater expense have prevented wider adoption of the newer methods.

Short informal talks were given following the dinner by Dr. James Prime of Omaha on the "Relation of Dental Study Clubs to the Community," and by Dr. Charles Woodbury of Council Bluffs, Ia., on the "Value of Dental Study Clubs to the Dentist."

The final study session of the group was held Saturday morning with Dr. V. P. Blair of St. Louis as lecturer, on the subject dental surgery for the face and jaw. Approximately fifty dentists attended at least one of the sessions held during the three-day convention. This gathering marked the fifth anniversary of the dental study club. Following the closing session the convention delegates attended the Missouri-Nebraska game in a body.

Omaha Woman is Paroled for Two Years

Mrs. Ruth Staples, Omaha, who pleaded guilty Friday when arraigned before District Judge Broady on a charge of forgery, was paroled Saturday for two years to the adult probation officer, Jack Leonard. Judge Broady said in making the order that favorable reports from her community influenced him to show leniency.

She was ordered to report in person in Lincoln at the probation officer's office at least once each month. She was further ordered to live at home with her husband and to remain in Douglas county during the entire two years unless given permission by the court to move elsewhere.

When arraigned Friday, Mrs. Staples pleaded guilty to forging several checks, totaling about $200, on each of two trips to Lincoln this fall. She was arrested on her second visit on November 10 when she offered a $15 check at the same department store at which she passed a check on her first visit.

BEATRICE WATER CASE COMES UP

Objector Files an Appeal In the Supreme Court.

Fight against an addition to the Beatrice water works system as authorized in a special city election last spring was carried to the Supreme court Saturday.

Elmer L. Hevelone, whose suit to enjoin the city of Beatrice, its commissioners and the Layne-Western Co., from carrying on work to develop the waterworks system, was dismissed in District court, filed an appeal in the Supreme court.

At the same time a motion to advance the case for early hearing was filed by the defendants. They claim that waterworks development of Beatrice will be held up pending decision and that the city's health is endangered by delay.

The company which is constructing th addition has already located a new water supply for Beatrice, the Hevelone petition states, after drilling thirty-five test wells and expending approximately $18,700.

Hevelone claims the election was invalid because not properly authorized by the city council. He also claims that the work was not approved by a majority of the legal voters but only by a majority of those voting and that only construction of an entire waterworks system could be authorized, whereas this is but a part.

Poucher Discusses Masonic Teachings

Necessity for Service Stressed by Order Declares Speaker at Scottish Rite Reunion Banquet.

John F. Poucher of Omaha, principal speaker at the banquet which terminated the fifty-sixth reunion of Scottish Rite Masons Friday evening, paid glowing tribute to the teachings of Masonry, and particularly to the creation in men of the impression of the necessity for service. Under the influence of the order men become greater and stronger, he asserted. Dr. Poucher's address was enlivened by sparkling witticisms and clever anecdotes, the hundreds who packed the banquet hall being kept in the best of humor.

John E. Curtiss acted as toastmaster, being introduced by Howard Wilson, master of kadosh. Secretary Fred D. Cornell told of the progress and finances of the rite and the administration of its educational fund, which in a decade has loaned $110,000 to 620 boys and girls. Frank C. Patton, Omaha, sovereign grand inspector general, and C. D. Traphagen, deputy inspector general, spoke briefly, the class oration being given by Dr. Charles H. Arnold.

Dr. Arnold expressed on behalf of the class appreciation of the impressive manner in which the degrees had been conferred and assurance that the lessons sought to be inculcated had not been without effect. He asked the co-operation of members of the class and of all Masons in making conditions better in all lines, and especially in the enforcement of the laws.

Norris Offers Compromise on Muscle Shoals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—(AP)—Differences between President Hoover and some of his republican leaders in the senate over the Norris measure for government operation of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., power and nitrate plant remained to be settled today before the threat of an extra session of congress next spring is dissipated.

Senator McNary of Oregon, the assistant republican leader, is standing firm for the government operation bill which is in conflict with the house measure for private operation. McNary is chairman of the conferees on this legislation.

A compromise between the senate and house is being sought. Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, author of the senate's government operation measure, already has offered a compromise whereby the power plant at Muscle Shoals would be under government operation and control and the nitrate plant available to private lease. The house conferees so far have refused this.

Miss Martin Named State Director of Nursing Education

Miss Carroll Martin, who has been engaged for two years past in equipping and organizing the nurse corps in one of the hospitals under the commonwealth fund of the state of New York, has been appointed as director of nursing education for the state welfare department of Nebraska and began her duties in that capacity Saturday. The appointment was made by Governor Weaver through Welfare-Labor Secretray Follard.

The place filled by Miss Martin has been vacant for nearly a year since the resignation of the former director, Miss Phebe Kandel, who is now in charge of nursing education at the Greeley, Colo., state teachers' college. The salary is $2,400 a year.

Miss Martin gained her foundation experience in nursing at the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago, and later served in the same institution as instructor and supervisor of nurse training. She was for a time executive secretary of the Chicago central council for nursing education. Her work in that position took her into a number of middle western states.

She was also assistant director of the Wisconsin bureau of nursing at one time.

TWO GAGE COUNTY MEN APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT

Appeals from two Gage county criminal convictions were filed with the Supreme court here early Saturday afternoon.

In one action, George O. Huckett, convicted of arson, and sentenced to 1 to 5 years in the state penitentiary is appealing from his conviction and sentence. He was charged with burning his house and furnishings.

The other appeal is that of Charles N. Hinds, Odell banker. He was convicted of violation of state banking laws and given 1 to 5 years.

TENCH DESCRIBES NEW METHODS OF REPLACING TEETH

Because they are not aware of the numerous appliances to replace missing teeth, thousands suffer pain and disfigurement, according to Dr. Russell Tench of New York City in his address before the Cornhusker Dental Study club Friday evening at the Lincoln hotel.

Dr. Tench explained that improved technique has been in existence for ten years, but the time required to put them into effect and the greater expense have prevented wider adoption of the newer methods.

Short informal talks were given following the dinner by Dr. James Prime of Omaha on the "Relation of Dental Study Clubs to the Community," and by Dr. Charles Woodbury of Council Bluffs, Ia., on the "Value of Dental Study Clubs to the Dentist."

The final study session of the group was held Saturday morning with Dr. V. P. Blair of St. Louis as lecturer, on the subject dental surgery for the face and jaw. Approximately fifty dentists attended at least one of the sessions held during the three-day convention. This gathering marked the fifth anniversary of the dental study club. Following the closing session the convention delegates attended the Missouri-Nebraska game in a body.

Omaha Woman is Paroled for Two Years

Mrs. Ruth Staples, Omaha, who pleaded guilty Friday when arraigned before District Judge Broady on a charge of forgery, was paroled Saturday for two years to the adult probation officer, Jack Leonard. Judge Broady said in making the order that favorable reports from her community influenced him to show leniency.

She was ordered to report in person in Lincoln at the probation officer's office at least once each month. She was further ordered to live at home with her husband and to remain in Douglas county during the entire two years unless given permission by the court to move elsewhere.

When arraigned Friday, Mrs. Staples pleaded guilty to forging several checks, totaling about $200, on each of two trips to Lincoln this fall. She was arrested on her second visit on November 10 when she offered a $15 check at the same department store at which she passed a check on her first visit.

BRICK TELLS CO-OP OF HISTORY AND GROWTH OF GROUP

The history and growth of the Co-operative club International and its ideals for the future were outlined in a brief address by Carl R. Brick, executive secretary of Co-operative International with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., before the Lincoln chapter at a special luncheon at the Lincoln hotel Saturday noon.

"The Co-operative organization is the second oldest civic club movement in the nation, being antedated only by Rotary," Mr. Brick declared.

Another guest was Lou Block, secretary of the Kansas City Co-operative club. Messrs. Brick and Block were in Lincoln to attend the Nebraska-Missouri football game.

U. S. C. Trojans Under Fire On Subsidizing Charges

Turmoil Breaks Loose In College Circles of West Pacific Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15—(AP)—The proposal of R. L. "Dink" Templeton, Stanford university track coach, for an investigation to determine "why the University of Southern California gets the best football players and other athletes," threw the coast football situation into a turmoil today.

"The future of Pacific coast athletics depends on an investigation," Templeton told a gathering of California and Stanford alumni and officials at Oakland yesterday.

Howard Jones Issues Reply.

Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California, at Los Angeles, issued a quick reply, asking the Stanford coach to "prove his insinuations or shut up."

The turmoil evidently centered round the 74 to 0 defeat handed California by Southern California. "Until Stanford and California get a break on athletic material there is no chance for them to compete with Southern California on an even basis." Templeton declared.

"It is high time that Stanford and California should get together and find out why this situation has arisen. Why has U. S. C. such athletes and football players? Maybe it is the Southern California climate, the waving palms or the U. S. C. campus buildings.

Man-Power, Not Magic.

"All coaches know that the first principle of success is man power, regardless of miracles, or magic up their sleeves."

This is the first time in history, since the New Zealand All-Blacks (famed Rugby team that toured the United States several years ago) that the Pacific coast has had such an athletic organization of big power as the U. S. C. football team."

Coach Jones declared the veiled charges of subsidization demanded proof.

"If either Templeton or these California supporters, with their veiled remarks on subsidization, have anything to prove, I'll be more than glad to listen," he said. "They have made a lot of accusations. Now let's have some proof.

Trojans Little Changed.

"Don't both Stanford and California get a large percentage of their athletes from Southern California? How many players do we get from Northern California?"

Coach Jones said, except for three men, the 1930 Trojan football team was the same eleven which lost to California, 15 to 7, in 1929, after which no hints of subsidization were heard.

W. B. Owens, Stanford professor and president of the Pacific Coast conference, said Templeton's remarks were his personal opinions and did not represent Stanford's attitude.

War of Words Continues.

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 15—(I. N. S.)—The war of words over matters pertaining to football continued to be bandied back and forth today, with emphasis being placed particularly on "professionalism" and "subsidizing."

As a result a "break" between California and Southern California loomed as a possibility, although so far the matter has only progressed to the stage where various individuals are taking "pot shots" more or less at random.

There has been much ado on the campus here since California was on the receiving end of a 74 to 0 defeat at the hands of Southern California a week ago.

First Blast At Coach.

The first blast was let loose against "Nibs" Price, California coach, through the columns of the Daily Californian, student publication.

The reaction to this was a student rally in support of Price, at which time Fritz Cahn, California tackle, declared that California had been beaten "by the best professional team in America."

An answer to that was not long in forthcoming from the Southern California camp.

"If there are any charges to be made, let's have them," said Howard Jones, Southern California coach. "I believe that, in the continuance of good relations between the schools, something more tangible in the line of explanation is due our institution."

Templeton Cuts Loose.

More fuel was added to the fire when "Dink" Templeton, Stanford track coach, suggested that Stanford and California unite to investigate athletic conditions at Southern California. Informed of this suggestion, Jones stated:

"They've made a lot of insinuations. Let them try to prove them. Maybe we can talk back."

Pesek Drags Down Rich Derby Purse

GIRARD, Kas., Nov. 15—(AP)—Sydney, flashy entry of John Pesek, Ravenna, Neb., heavyweight wrestler, yesterday won the national derby, feature event of the national coursing association's fall meet here. Pesek pocketed a stake of several thousand dollars as a result of his dogs victory.

Sydney, after defeating Dublin Castle of the Callaghan kennels of Joliet, Ill., in the semi-finals, ran away from Kitty Doon of the Sporting Blood kennels of Girard.

Dwight Randall of Blackwell, Okla., was elected president of the association. W. M. Foster, Waseka, Minn., was named vice president and Charles F. Horne, Manhattan, Kas., was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

HENRY WATCHES WESLEYAN DRILL

Missouri Coach Looks on While Waldorf Squad In Action Friday.

The Friday night workout at Nebraska Wesleyan was the last practice prior to the Midland tilt, slated for Monday night at Fremont. The squad went through its plays with more than usual vigor because of the presence of Coach Henry of Missouri, the Tiger mentor visiting the Methodist campus to look over the charges of one of his former pupils, John Waldorf, new Wesleyan coach.

Waldorf has been using Missouri plays in his system at the Methodist school and the varsity did its stuff under the watchful eye of the veteran Missouri coach Friday afternoon. Coach Henry made several suggestions and minor corrections in the details of a few of the formations and before the session was over all plays were being run off very smoothly.

Two Games Next Week.

With two games on the schedule for next week, as the Methodist eleven meets Grand Island in a Saturday night contest in the Wesleyan bowl, Coach Waldorf plans to use his reserves as much as possible in both the Warrior and Zebra tilts.

It is probable that the entire second-string backfield, composed of Moor, Barrett, Briggs and Trott, will start against Midland.

The Methodist schedule ends in a trio of conference games, all of which come in a period of 11 days as the Waldorf clan goes against Hastings in the traditional Thanksgiving day game. If the Wesleyan team can take Midland and Grand Island, the Broncho tilt will assume great importance in the state college grid race.

EDGAR STOPS CLAY CENTER.

EDGAR, Neb., Nov. 15—Edgar high handed Clay Center its first defeat of the football season yesterday. Coach Ted Page's eleven winning by a 14-0 score.

Clay Center was never inside the Edgar 30-yard line, while Edgar had the ball within scoring three times and failed. The game ended with Edgar having the ball on the Clay Center 2-foot line.

Edgar scored touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters and chalked up a safety in the final period.

IRISH CROWDED INTO REAR SEAT

Italians and Poles Take Over Control of Grid Sport in Colleges.

By AL STANTORO.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Once there were two Irishmen, but then the Toscanis, Sianos, Steponovicmes and Wisniewskies came along. And so today at the Polo Grounds the Irish are joined by the Poles and the Italians to make a great game of football between St. Mary's college of California and Fordham university of New York.

But instead of the frost and snap which Californians have heard is typical eastern football weather, it rained here last night and the skies threatened to ooze with more moisture this afternoon as the teams made ready to take the field.

However, a Mister Fabian, who now keeps the Giants' park in shape and who played ball himself out there on the coast along about the time of Mique Fisher, Blockers Hanley and that bunch, brought out yards and yards of trapaulin to cover the field and thus insure a dry start at least.

Weisgerber In Suit.

When the Galloping Gaels went out to the Polo Grounds yesterday for a bit of ball throwing and signal running, lo and behold Adam Weisgerber, guard and bulwark in the Californians' line, was out there running around with the best of them. Coach Madigan probably will not start Weisgerber, but the St. Mary's guard himself claims that he's going to see action sometime during the game.

Weisgerber suffered a wrenched knee in practice at Chicago's Soldier Field enroute here. Mike Stepcnovich, the Los Angeles Slav, who has been polishing up on his Polish, you might say, in order to give the Gaels an even break with Wisniewski, Miskinis, Elcewicz and Pieculewicz, has, however, drawn the opening assignment at the right guard position.

Odds Favor Rams.

Odds continue to favor the Fordham Ram. Fordham still is the only undefeated and untied team in the east, and they say you've got to favor the champion as long as he's champion.

Those who will make wagers, claim that Fordham still rules a choice, eight to five.

If the critics who sit in here this afternoon are not totally wet, there is every reason to believe that the field will just about be cluttered up with candidates for the many all-Americans. The St. Mary's team, of course, is advancing Fred Francis Stennett, left Halfback, greatest kicker on the coast, and probably in the country, and Harry Ebding, the 200-pound right end, as their all-star hopes. The Fordham Ram goes them one better in naming Tony Siano, center; Pete Wisinewski and Frank Foley as their all-American hopes. If it continues to rain, however, the all-Americans-to-be in this game today may have two strikes on them as they line up for kickoff. One thing, rain never helped a fast-moving backfield that employs the Notre Dame system.

Rain May Wreck Crowd.

A capacity crowd of 55,000 persons was expected—before the rain set in—but they tell me that New Yorkers do not take their football so seriously as westerners. Furthermore, they know htat dampness makes for better radio reception. An advance sale of 35,000 had been reported.

Regardless of the weather, a battle of lines between two fine defensive teams looms. No team has scored through either defensive wall in two seasons. The forward passers on some of the other outfits, however, have bothered them.

St. Mary's followers hold that the California team is better in the offensive department. Fordham's supporters answer that with the tale that a touchdown in the hand is worth two in the bush. What they mean is that after they've scored their touchdown, or dropkick, they consider the ball game won as long as the other side can't crash through their lines.

HASTINGS HALTS KEARNEY'S STREAK

KEARNEY, Neb., Nov. 15—Hastings college stopped the winning streak of Coach Ted James' Kearney Teachers college last night when the Bronchos and Antelopes played to a scoreless tie.

Neither team was able to get within 20 yards of a touchdown.

Doane's Seconds Avenge Reverse

CRETE, Neb., Nov. 15—(Special)—The Doane reserves squared accounts with the Wesleyan seconds by handing Coach Durham's charges a 6-0 defeat in a game played on the Doane gridiron Friday afternoon. The Methodists won 19-7 in a tilt last week but were unable to score in the second encounter.

Doane counted in the initial period when Anderson passed to Kiell from the Wesleyan 45-yard line, the Doane fullback dashing 25 yards to cross the Methodist goal.

The Wesleyan crew threatened late in the last quarter advancing the oval to the Tiger 15-yard stripe, only to have a penalty ruin their opportunity. The Tiger reserves were within scoring distance several times, on one occasion in the third period being only 10 yards from another six points, but a Doane fumble was recovered by Wesleyan to stop the advance.

Anderson, Wesleyan half, intercepted two Doane passes deep in Methodist territory, which halted other Tiger drives. Craig gained most of the yardage for the Durham team, while Bravman did some fine punting. Kiell and Loken were the outstanding ground-gainers in the Doane backfield.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— BY JOHN HIX.

You've probably tossed a stone into a pool many times and watched the ripples spread across the smooth surface. Those waves seem to travel outward. But in reality they do not! If a chip is thrown upon this rippling surface its only motion will be up and down. It is only the force that travels, the water remains in the same place. It is the same with ocean waves that appear to move rapidly across the surface.

"Albie Booth took the Cowhide for a 20-yard gain," wouldn't sound exactly right but it would be correct. Maybe some of you old-timers can explain how the football came to be dubbed "Pigskin" (¼).

The authority for the statement that the elephant's nearest relative, the tiny rock rabbit, is the only animal that makes hay while the sun shines, is Warden Davis, Jasper Park, Alberta. The coney, as the rabbit is often called, cuts grass when it is green and lets it cure in the sun turning it over daily. When the grass becomes hay it is stored for the winter.

Monday today's pictures will be explained. JOHN HIX.

CLEAN SLATE BY SCHUYLER TEAM

Colfax County Gridmen Still Unbeaten In High Circles.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

SCHUYLER, Neb., Nov. 15—Schuyler high maintained its all-victorious football record yesterday when Coach George Baldwin's Colfax county athletes swept Osceola off its feet in a 46-0 victory.

The final result was never in doubt, Schuyler scoring two touchdowns in each of the first two periods and leading 26-0 at half-time.

Featuring the Schuyler offense this season are Gus Koudele, a 168-pound back of the triple threat variety, and Francis Fisher, a heady quarterback and great receiver of forward passes. The Koudele-to-Fisher combination has been the bright spot in the Schuyler showing throughout the season. Colfax county fans claiming a record of 22 completed passes in 24 attempts during the game with Albion.

One Pass of 50 Yards.

Koudele scored two touchdowns on plunges against Osceola and shot a 50-yard pass which was completed for another score. Fisher crossed the Osceola goal line three times, one touchdown being the result of a 70-yard return of an Osceola punt.

Outstanding players in the Schuyler line include Murray Longworth, a stock end, and Anton Marek, tackle.

Ashland and David City remain on the Schuyler slate and should his team finish the season undefeated Coach George Baldwin indicated yesterday he would file a bid for a share of mythical title honors in Nebraska prep circles. EXPECT MILLION INTAKE AT GATE

Army and Navy Contest Likely to Smash All Receipts Records.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Final arrangements for the Army-Navy football game to be played here December 13 for the benefit of the jobless will be made this afternoon at a conference of West Point and Annapolis officials in Baltimore or Washington. This was announced here today by Grover Whalen, chairman of the New York Salvation Army committee arranging for the game. The contest is expected to attract a gate of $1,000,000.

It was made plain today that the Army and Navy will handle the ticket sales and the revenue from the game and also determine distribution of the profits. New York charities will receive the chief benefit from the fund, since the game is to be played here, it was understood, and will be largely patronized by New York residents.

General William R. Smith, superintendent of the United States Military academy at West Point, removed the final obstacle in the way of the game, when he wired Admiral S. S. Robinson, superintendent of the Navy academy, that the Army would consent to play here Dec. 13. The Army first selected Dec. 6, but this date conflicted with the Navy-Penn game.

Charity Date Changed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—(AP)—The benefit football game between the Notre Dame All-Stars, led by Knute Rockne, and the New York Giants of the National Football league, will be played here Sunday, Dec. 14, instead of Dec. 13.

The game was set back one day to make room for the meeting between the Army and Navy. Rockne has agreed to the shift in date and said he would get his team together for practice at South Bend a week before the contest.

Robson Reserves Gridiron Winners

The ability of the College View Reserves to complete their own passes and to intercept their opponents' heaves was chiefly responsible for their 25-6 victory Friday over the Sprague-Martel eleven. The College View seconds, although considerably outweighed, were able to gain consistently on pass plays. The game was played on the College View gridiron.

During the first three minutes of play, a pass from Elliott to Shipps scored for the College View team. Elliott intercepted a Sprague-Martel pass and sprinted 80 yards for the second marker. Another pass, Elliott to Shipps, added a touchdown in the third quarter. Elliott's pass to Dunham, in the fourth period, was good for the final touchdown. Wells scored Sprague-Martel's only touchdown, after taking a juggled ball from Jensen.

Canzoneri Climbs to Fistic Throne With Quick K. O. of Singer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—(AP)—Two years ago they said he was through, but Tony Canzoneri, the little Italian who began his fantastic boxing career as a bootblack on the streets of New Orleans, is the lightweight champion today.

In less time than it takes to tell it Tony, who two years ago lost his featherweight title to Andre Routis, and a year later was badly whipped by Jackie Kid Berg, floored Al Singer for the count of ten and won the lightweight title at Madison Square Garden last night. Two clean punches, both left hooks to the jaw, returned the smiling little Italian to the top of the boxing world.

History Plays Repeater.

When Canzoneri's hand was raised in token of victory, one minute and six seconds after they had shook hands in the center of the ring, it was the third time that the lightweight title had changed hands in less than a round. More than 25 years ago, Joe Gans, the immortal, knocked out Frankie Erne at Fort Erie, N. Y., in 54 seconds and last summer Singer lowered Sammy Mandell, then holder of the title, in a little more than two minutes.

It may have been that Singer was a little too ambitious when he stepped out to meet Jimmy McLarnin shortly after winning his title and was flattened in three rounds. Again it may have been Canzoneri had not gone back as much as the followers of the game thought. But, whatever was the reason, the Italian was easily the master of the Jewish champion, who won the title less than five months ago.

Terrific Left Hook.

For one minute they bobbed and weaved, but not a blow was struck. Then Canzoneri came out of the clinch, stepped back and let loose with a terrific left hook. Singer staggered but recovered and dodged the next of the same kind, but the third hook he could not escape and went down face flat on the mat.

At the count of seven, he rose to one knee but as the timekeeper tolled off the remaining seconds, fell again, tried to get up and staggered through the ropes a defeated champion.

Pitched Off Golden Throne.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—(I. N. S.)—Al Singer pitched off the golden lightweight throne as if his heart had been drilled by an elephant gun.

He came tumbling down, his body a grey green in its ghastly whiteness. All the blood seemed to rush from it into Singer's boots.

Two left hooks, superbly timed, won the lightweight crown for Tony Canzoneri in one minute and six seconds at the Garden last night.

The fight itself. It is like trying to write the story of lightning striking. It all came like a blinding flash. One minute and six seconds. The second shortest lightweight championship in ring history. Joe Gans knocked out Frank Erne, 30 years ago, in less time.

Singer, himself, came second to that record when he knocked out Sammy Mandell in one minute and 46 seconds.

And now, he plunges off his throne in 40 seconds less time.

Holder of Second Title.

Canzoneri is the seventh man to hold a second title, joining the other ring immortals, George Dixon, Johnny Buff, Mickey Walker, Harry Greb, Johnny Dundee and Gene Tunney.

As they came out at the first bell, Singer, pale and anxious offered a feeble left at Canzoneri's head. It was more of a feeler than a punch. They went into a mixup, but did little damage to each other. Singer straightened away and shot a much stiffer left to the head.

Tony ducked and drove hard to the heart. Singer's jaw dropped, either from pain or surprise. Quick as a flash, Canzoneri hocked a left to Singer's jaw.

Fell Flat On Floor.

Singer's head went back as if it had been jerked by a spring. As he tottered, Canzoneri, despite what he says himself, hooked another left, flush to the mouth, and Singer plunged full length on his face.

He lay exactly as he had been floored by Jimmy McLarnin. And oddly enough, he rubbed the back of his neck and head as he had done that night. Then he lay so still. Little Hymie Caplin, in his corner, was deathly pale. It couldn't be. Not out again—not the title gone?

But it was to be. At "seven," Singer got up in a strange, lop-sided way. Dead eyes, and limbs more dead. He suddenly leaped up into the air as if to awaken himself.

Collapsed In Huddle.

As his feet returned to the floor, they buckled under him, and he collapsed in a sickening huddle under the lower rope in Canzoneri's corner. He rolled out to the edge of the platform, and would have landed in tre press row had not the scribes on that side of the ring pushed him back. Singer got up, but outside the ropes. Ten had been counted by now.

Al was on his chair now, beaten, broken, yet possibly knowing he had entered the long and endless list of ex-champions.

BETHANY STEPS ON STERLING HI

Clarkmen Romp to String Seven Touchdowns In Friday Game.

The Bethany high eleven recorded its fourth win of the season Friday afternoon by decisively trimming a light Sterling team in a game played on Cotner field. The final score was 42-0, the heavy Maroon team dashing for three touchdowns in the second quarter. Coach Clark used many of his reserves in the initial period, and the plucky Sterling crew held Bethany scoreless, aided, however, by a strong wind which carried the Sterling punts deep into Bethany territory.

Starting the second quarter the regular Clark eleven was on the field and Terrill, C. Shuman and Critchfield dashed through the line or around end for long gains which netted three score before the half ended.

One Threat By Sterling.

Most of the first quarter was played in Bethany territory. After the kickoff and an exchange of punts, Doran got off a kick to the Bethany 10-yard line. The punt by Shuman was short and Sterling advanced to the Clark 25-yard stripe before being stopped. This was the only Sterling scoring threat of the day, however.

Starting the second period, Critchfield kicked out of bounds on the Sterling 10-yard line and, following a short Sterling kick, C Shuman went over for the first score after four line, line plunges by Bethany backs.

Critchfield Romps 50 Yards.

The second touchdown came immediately after. Sterling kicked off and on the second play Critchfield went around left end for 50 yards and another six points. The husky Critchfield again crossed the Sterling goal before the intermission. Rod Shuman intercepted a pass on the Sterling 42-yard line. C. Shuman advanced 12 yards through the line and Critchfield dashed the remaining 30 yards to cross the goal untouched.

The fourth score came after the Bethany line had broken through to block a Sterling kick, Verley recovering for the Clark team on the Sterling three-yard marker. A Bethany back fumbled and Sterling recovered and kicked. Terrill returned the punt 10 yards to the Sterling 17-yard line and C. Shuman went around end for the score.

Starting the last period, C. Shuman got off for a 40-yard jaunt to the Sterling eight-yard line. Rod Shuman going over for the counter.

Final Score by Terrill.

The last touchdown of the game resulted from a blocked punt which Coach Clark's charges recovered on the visitors' 20-yard line. Three plunges, with Terrill lugging the ball on each play, brought the final six points. R. Williams added five points after goal by placekicks, having a perfect day.

The entire Bethany line functioned well, opening large holes in the light Sterling forward wall through which Critchfield and his mates could gallop for long gains. The two Barnell brothers looked good in the Sterling front line, while Doran and Aden did most of the ball-carrying.

WILDCAT READY CLAW BADGERS

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 15—(AP)—Northwestern's victory-sleek Wildcat today was crouched for its biggest effort of the Big Ten gridiron season—an assault on Wisconsin, victory in which meant no less than a tie for the 1930 championship. The game attracted a capacity crowd of 48,000.

Not since 1926 has Northwestern come as close to the title, and Coach Dick Hanley's Wildcat with its high hopes dependent on the outcome acted more like a starved animal, than one with six straight kills —Tulane, Ohio State, Centre, Minnesota, Illinois and Indiana.

Although lacking the expert passing services of Pug Rentner, Northwestern had Hanley and Bruder to throw aerials and was a sizeable favorite to overcome the Badgers. Wisconsin, however, has been on the verge of going somewhere ever since its last big success that overwhelming victory over Pennsylvania early in the campaign, and was counted upon to give Northwestern an interesting afternoon.

This year's meeting between Northwestern and Notre Dame is the ninth. Northwestern won, 2 to 0, in 1901. In 1903 they tied 0 to 0.

U. S. C. Trojans Under Fire On Subsidizing Charges

Turmoil Breaks Loose In College Circles of West Pacific Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15—(AP)—The proposal of R. L. "Dink" Templeton, Stanford university track coach, for an investigation to determine "why the University of Southern California gets the best football players and other athletes," threw the coast football situation into a turmoil today.

"The future of Pacific coast athletics depends on an investigation," Templeton told a gathering of California and Stanford alumni and officials at Oakland yesterday.

Howard Jones Issues Reply.

Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California, at Los Angeles, issued a quick reply, asking the Stanford coach to "prove his insinuations or shut up."

The turmoil evidently centered around the 74 to 0 defeat handed California by Southern California.

"Until Stanford and California get a break on athletic material there is no chance for them to compete with Southern California on an even basis," Templeton declared.

"It is high time that Stanford and California should get together and find out why this situation has arisen. Why has U. S. C. such athletes and football players? Maybe it is the Southern California climate; the waving palms or the U. S. C. campus buildings.

Man-Power, Not Magic.

"All coaches know that the first principle of success is man power, regardless of miracles or magic up their sleeves."

This is the first time in history, since the New Zealand All-Blacks (famed Rugby team that toured the United States several years ago) that the Pacific coast has had such an athletic organization of big power as the U. S. C. football team."

Coach Jones declared the veiled charges of subsidization demanded proof.

"If either Templeton or these California supporters, with their veiled remarks on subsidization, have anything to prove, I'll be more than glad to listen," he said. "They have made a lot of accusations. Now let's have some proof.

Trojans Little Changed.

"Don't both Stanford and California get a large percentage of their athletes from Southern California? How many players do we get from Northern California?"

Coach Jones said, except for three men, the 1930 Trojan football team was the same eleven which lost to California 15 to 7, in 1929, after which no hints of subsidization were heard.

W. B. Owens, Stanford professor and president of the Pacific Coast conference, said Templeton's remarks were his personal opinions and did not represent Stanford's attitude.

War of Words Continues.

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 15—(I. N. S.)—The war of words over matters pertaining to football continued to be bandied back and forth today, with emphasis being placed particularly on "professionalism" and "subsidizing."

As a result a "break" between California and Southern California loomed as a possibility, although so far the matter has only progressed to the stage where various individuals are taking "pot shots" more or less at random.

There has been much ado on the campus here since California was on the receiving end of a 74 to 0 defeat at the hands of Southern California a week ago.

First Blast At Coach.

The first blast was let loose against "Nibs" Price, California coach, through the columns of the Daily Californian, student publication.

The reaction to this was a student rally in support of Price, at which time Fritz Cahn, California tackle, declared that California had been beaten "by the best professional team in America."

An answer to that was not long in forthcoming from the Southern California camp.

"If there are any charges to be made, let's have them," said Howard Jones, Southern California coach. "I believe that, in the continuance of good relations between the schools, something more tangible in the line of explanation is due our institution."

Templeton Cuts Loose.

More fuel was added to the fire when "Dink" Templeton, Stanford track coach, suggested that Stanford and California unite to investigate athletic conditions at Southern California. Informed of this suggestion, Jones stated:

"They've made a lot of insinuations. Let them try to prove them. Maybe we can talk back."

JONES TO SCOUT IRISH IN ACTION

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15—(AP)—Coach Howard Jones personally will inspect the Notre Dame football team when it meets Northwestern next Saturday at Evanston.

The University of Southern California grid mentor made reservations today to leave by airplane Nov. 21 for Kansas City where he will entrain for Chicago.

Pesek Drags Down Rich Derby Purse

GIRARD, Kas., Nov. 15—(AP)—Sydney, flashy entry of John Pesek, Ravenna, Neb., heavyweight wrestler, yesterday won the national derby, feature event of the national coursing association's fall meet here. Pesek pocketed a stake of several thousand dollars as a result of his dogs victory.

Sydney, after defeating Dublin Castle of the Callaghan kennels of Joliet, Ill., in the semi-finals, ran away from Kitty Doon of the Sporting Blood kennels of Girard.

Dwight Randall of Blackwell, Okla., was elected president of the association. W. M. Foster, Waseka, Minn., was named vice president and Charles F. Horne, Manhattan, Kas., was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

HENRY WATCHES WESLEYAN DRILL

Missouri Coach Looks on While Waldorf Squad In Action Friday.

The Friday night workout at Nebraska Wesleyan was the last practice prior to the Midland tilt, slated for Monday night at Fremont. The squad went through its plays with more than usual vigor because of the presence of Coach Henry of Missouri, the Tiger mentor visiting the Methodist campus to look over the charges of one of his former pupils, John Waldorf, new Wesleyan coach.

Waldorf has been using Missouri plays in his system at the Methodist school and the varsity did its stuff under the watchful eye of the veteran Missouri coach Friday afternoon. Coach Henry made several suggestions and minor corrections in the details of a few of the formations and before the session was over all plays were being run off very smoothly.

Two Games Next Week.

With two games on the schedule for next week, as the Methodist eleven meets Grand Island in a Saturday night contest in the Wesleyan bowl, Coach Waldorf plans to use his reserves as much as possible in both the Warrior and Zebra tilts.

It is probable that the entire second-string backfield, composed of Moor, Barrett, Briggs and Trott, will start against Midland.

The Methodist schedule ends in a trio of conference games, all of which come in a period of 11 days as the Waldorf clan goes against Hastings in the traditional Thanksgiving day game. If the Wesleyan team can take Midland and Grand Island, the Broncho tilt will assume great importance in the state college grid race.

EDGAR STOPS CLAY CENTER.

EDGAR, Neb., Nov. 15—Edgar high handed Clay Center its first defeat of the football season yesterday, Coach Ted Page's eleven winning by a 14-0 score.

Clay Center was never inside the Edgar 30-yard line, while Edgar had the ball within scoring three times and failed. The game ended with Edgar having the ball on the Clay Center 2-foot line.

Edgar scored touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters and chalked up a safety in the final period.

IRISH CROWDED INTO REAR SEAT

Italians and Poles Take Over Control of Grid Sport in Colleges.

By AL STANTORO.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Once there were two Irishmen, but then the Toscanis, Sianos, Steponovicmes and Wisniewskies came along. And so today at the Polo Grounds the Irish are joined by the Poles and the Italians to make a great game of football between St. Mary's college of California and Fordham university of New York.

But instead of the frost and snap which Californians have heard is typical eastern football weather, it rained here last night and the skies threatened to ooze with more moisture this afternoon as the teams made ready to take the field.

However, a Mister Fabian, who now keeps the Giants' park in shape and who played ball himself out there on the coast along about the time of Mique Fisher, Blockers Hanley and that bunch, brought out yards and yards of trapaulin to cover the field and thus insure a dry start at least.

Weisgerber In Suit.

When the Galloping Gaels went out to the Polo Grounds yesterday for a bit of ball throwing and signal running, lo and behold Adam Weisgerber, guard and bulwark in the Californians' line, was out there running around with the best of them. Coach Madigan probably will not start Weisgerber, but the St. Mary's guard himself claims that he's going to see action sometime during the game.

Weisgerber suffered a wrenched knee in practice at Chicago's Soldier Field enroute here. Mike Stepconovich, the Los Angeles Slav, who has been polishing up on his Polish, you might say, in order to give the Gaels an even break with Wisniewski, Miskinis, Elcewicz and Pieculewicz, has, however, drawn the opening assignment at the right guard position.

Odds Favor Rams.

Odds continue to favor the Fordham Ram. Fordham still is the only undefeated and untied team in the east, and they say you've got to favor the champion as long as he's champion.

Those who will make wagers, claim that Fordham still rules a choice, eight to five.

If the critics who sit in here this afternoon are not totally wet, there is every reason to believe that the field will just about be cluttered up with candidates for the many all-Americans. The St. Mary's team, of course, is advancing Fred Francis Stennett, left Halfback, greatest kicker on the coast, and probably in the country, and Harry Ebding, the 200-pound right end, as their all-star hopes. The Fordham Ram goes them one better in naming Tony Siano, center; Pete Wisinewski and Frank Foley as their all-American hopes. If it continues to rain, however, the all-Americans-to-be in this game today may have two strikes on them as they line up for kickoff. One thing, rain never helped a fast-moving backfield that employs the Notre Dame system.

Rain May Wreck Crowd.

A capacity crowd of 55,000 persons was expected—before the rain set in —but they tell me that New Yorkers do not take their football so seriously as westerners. Furthermore, they know htat dampness makes for better radio reception. An advance sale of 35,000 had been reported.

Regardless of the weather, a battle of lines between two fine defensive teams looms. No team has scored through either defensive wall in two seasons. The forward passers on some of the other outfits, however, have bothered them.

St. Mary's followers hold that the California team is better in the offensive department. Fordham's supporters answer that with the tale that a touchdown in the hand is worth two in the bush. What they mean is that after they've scored their touchdown, or dropkick, they consider the ball game won as long as the other side can't crash through their lines.

HASTINGS HALTS KEARNEY'S STREAK

KEARNEY, Neb., Nov. 15—Hastings college stopped the winning streak of Coach Ted James' Kearney Teachers college last night when the Bronchos and Antelopes played to a scoreless tie.

Neither team was able to get within 20 yards of a touchdown.

Doane's Seconds Avenge Reverse

CRETE, Neb., Nov. 15—(Special) —The Doane reserves squared accounts with the Wesleyan seconds by handing Coach Durham's charges a 6-0 defeat in a game played on the Doane gridiron Friday afternoon. The Methodists won 19-7 in a tilt last week but were unable to score in the second encounter.

Doane counted in the initial period when Anderson passed to Kiell from the Wesleyan 45-yard line, the Doane fullback dashing 25 yards to cross the Methodist goal.

The Wesleyan crew threatened late in the last quarter advancing the oval to the Tiger 15-yard stripe, only to have a penalty ruin their opportunity. The Tiger reserves were within scoring distance several times, on one occasion in the third period being only 10 yards from another six points, but a Doane fumble was recovered by Wesleyan to stop the advance.

Anderson, Wesleyan half, intercepted two Doane passes deep in Methodist territory, which halted other Tiger drives. Craig gained most of the yardage for the Durham team, while Brayman did some fine punting. Kiell and Loken were the outstanding ground-gainers in the Doane backfield.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— BY JOHN HIX.

You've probably tossed a stone into a pool many times and watched the ripples spread across the smooth surface. Those waves seem to travel outward. But in reality they do not! If a chip is thrown upon this rippling surface its only motion will be up and down. It is only the force that travels, the water remains in the same place. It is the same with ocean waves that appear to move rapidly across the surface.

"Albie Booth took the Cowhide for a 20-yard gain," wouldn't sound exactly right but it would be correct. Maybe some of you old-timers can explain how the football came to be dubbed "Pigskin" (¼).

The authority for the statement that the elephant's nearest relative, the tiny rock rabbit, is the only animal that makes hay while the sun shines, is Warden Davis, Jasper Park, Alberta. The coney, as the rabbit is often called, cuts grass when it is green and lets it cure in the sun turning it over daily. When the grass becomes hay it is stored for the winter.

Monday today's pictures will be explained. JOHN HIX.

CLEAN SLATE BY SCHUYLER TEAM

Colfax County Gridmen Still Unbeaten In High Circles.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

SCHUYLER, Neb., Nov. 15—Schuyler high maintained its all-victorious football record yesterday when Coach George Baldwin's Colfax county athletes swept Osceola off its feet in a 46-0 victory.

The final result was never in doubt, Schuyler scoring two touchdowns in each of the first two periods and leading 26-0 at half-time.

Featuring the Schuyler offense this season are Gus Koudele, a 168-pound back of the triple threat variety, and Francis Fisher, a heady quarterback and great receiver of forward passes. The Koudele-to-Fisher combination has been the bright spot in the Schuyler showing throughout the season. Colfax county fans claiming a record of 22 completed passes in 24 attempts during the game with Albion.

One Pass of 50 Yards.

Koudele scored two touchdowns on plunges against Osceola and shot a 50-yard pass which was completed for another score. Fisher crossed the Osceola goal line three times, one touchdown being the result of a 70-yard return of an Osceola punt.

Outstanding players in the Schuyler line include Murray Longworth, a stock end, and Anton Marek, tackle.

Ashland and David City remain on the Schuyler slate and should his team finish the season undefeated Coach George Baldwin indicated yesterday he would file a bid for a share of mythical title honors in Nebraska prep circles. EXPECT MILLION INTAKE AT GATE

Army and Navy Contest Likely to Smash All Receipts Records.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Final arrangements for the Army-Navy football game to be played here December 13 for the benefit of the jobless will be made this afternoon at a conference of West Point and Annapolis officials in Baltimore or Washington. This was announced here today by Grover Whalen, chairman of the New York Salvation Army committee arranging for the game. The contest is expected to attract a gate of $1,000,000.

It was made plain today that the Army and Navy will handle the ticket sales and the revenue from the game and also determine distribution of the profits. New York charities will receive the chief benefit from the fund, since the game is to be played here, it was understood, and will be largely patronized by New York residents.

General William R. Smith, superintendent of the United States Military academy at West Point, removed the final obstacle in the way of the game, when he wired Admiral S. S. Robinson, superintendent of the Navy academy, that the Army would consent to play here Dec. 13. The Army first selected Dec. 6, but this date conflicted with the Navy-Penn game.

Charity Date Changed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—(AP)—The benefit football game between the Notre Dame All-Stars, led by Knute Rockne, and the New York Giants of the National Football league, will be played here Sunday, Dec. 14, instead of Dec. 13.

The game was set back one day to make room for the meeting between the Army and Navy. Rockne has agreed to the shift in date and said he would get his team together for practice at South Bend a week before the contest.

Robson Reserves Gridiron Winners

The ability of the College View Reserves to complete their own passes and to intercept their opponents' heaves was chiefly responsible for their 25-6 victory Friday over the Sprague-Martel eleven. The College View seconds, although considerably outweighed, were able to gain consistently on pass plays. The game was played on the College View gridiron.

During the first three minutes of play, a pass from Elliott to Shipps scored for the College View team. Elliott intercepted a Sprague-Martel pass and sprinted 80 yards for the second marker. Another pass, Elliott to Shipps, added a touchdown in the third quarter. Elliott's pass to Dunham, in the fourth period, was good for the final touchdown. Wells scored Sprague-Martel's only touchdown, after taking a juggled ball from Jensen.

BETHANY STEPS ON STERLING HI

Clarkmen Romp to String Seven Touchdowns In Friday Game.

The Bethany high eleven recorded its fourth win of the season Friday afternoon by decisively trimming a light Sterling team in a game played on Cotner field. The final score was 42-0, the heavy Maroon team dashing for three touchdowns in the second quarter. Coach Clark used many of his reserves in the initial period, and the plucky Sterling crew held Bethany scoreless, aided, however, by a strong wind which carried the Sterling punts deep into Bethany territory.

Starting the second quarter the regular Clark eleven was on the field and Terrill, C. Shuman and Critchfield dashed through the line or around end for long gains which netted three score before the half ended.

One Threat By Sterling.

Most of the first quarter was played in Bethany territory. After the kickoff and an exchange of punts, Doran got off a kick to the Bethany 10-yard line. The punt by Shuman was short and Sterling advanced to the Clark 25-yard stripe before being stopped. This was the only Sterling scoring threat of the day, however.

Starting the second period, Critchfield kicked out of bounds on the Sterling 10-yard line and, following a short Sterling kick, C Shuman went over for the first score after four line, line plunges by Bethany backs.

Critchfield Romps 50 Yards.

The second touchdown came immediately after, Sterling kicked off and on the second play Critchfield went around left end for 50 yards and another six points. The husky Critchfield again crossed the Sterling goal before the intermission. Rod Shuman intercepted a pass on the Sterling 42-yard line. C. Shuman advanced 12 yards through the line and Critchfield dashed the remaining 30 yards to cross the goal untouched.

The fourth score came after the Bethany line had broken through to block a Sterling kick, Verley recovering for the Clark team on the Sterling three-yard marker. A Bethany back fumbled and Sterling recovered and kicked. Terrill returned the punt 10 yards to the Sterling 17-yard line and C. Shuman went around end for the score.

Starting the last period, C. Shuman got off for a 40-yard jaunt to the Sterling eight-yard line, Rod Shuman going over for the counter.

Final Score by Terrill.

The last touchdown of the game resulted from a blocked punt which Coach Clark's charges recovered on the visitors' 20-yard line. Three plunges, with Terrill lugging the ball on each play, brought the final six points. R. Williams added five points after goal by placekicks, having a perfect day.

The entire Bethany line functioned well, opening large holes in the light Sterling forward wall through which Critchfield and his mates could gallop for long gains. The two Barnell brothers looked good in the Sterling front line, while Doran and Aden did most of the ball-carrying.

Canzoneri Climbs to Fistic Throne With Quick K. O. of Singer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—(AP)—Two years ago they said he was through, but Tony Canzoneri, the little Italian who began his fantastic boxing career as a bootblack on the streets of New Orleans, is the lightweight champion today.

In less time than it takes to tell it Tony, who two years ago lost his featherweight title to Andre Routis, and a year later was badly whipped by Jackie Kid Berg, floored Al Singer for the count of ten and won the lightweight title at Madison Square Garden last night. Two clean punches, both left hooks to the jaw, returned the smiling little Italian to the top of the boxing world.

History Plays Repeater.

When Canzoneri's hand was raised in token of victory, one minute and six seconds after they had shook hands in the center of the ring, it was the third time that the lightweight title had changed hands in less than a round. More than 25 years ago, Joe Gans, the immortal, knocked out Frankie Erne at Fort Erie, N. Y., in 54 seconds and last summer Singer lowered Sammy Mandell, then holder of the title, in a little more than two minutes.

It may have been that Singer was a little too ambitious when he stepped out to meet Jimmy McLarnin shortly after winning his title and was flattened in three rounds. Again it may have been Canzoneri had not gone back as much as the followers of the game thought. But, whatever was the reason, the Italian was easily the master of the Jewish champion, who won the title less than five months ago.

Terrific Left Hook.

For one minute they bobbed and weaved, but not a blow was struck. Then Canzoneri came out of the clinch, stepped back and let loose with a terrific left hook. Singer staggered but recovered and dodged the next of the same kind, but the third hook he could not escape and went down face flat on the mat.

At the count of seven, he rose to one knee but as the timekeeper tolled off the remaining seconds, fell again, tried to get up and staggered through the ropes a defeated champion.

Pitched Off Golden Throne.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—(I. N. S.)—Al Singer pitched off the golden lightweight throne as if his heart had been drilled by an elephant gun.

He came tumbling down, his body a grey green in its ghastly whiteness. All the blood seemed to rush from it into Singer's boots.

Two left hooks, superbly timed, won the lightweight crown for Tony Canzoneri in one minute and six seconds at the Garden last night.

The fight itself. It is like trying to write the story of lightning striking. It all came like a blinding flash. One minute and six seconds. The second shortest lightweight championship in ring history. Joe Gans knocked out Frank Erne, 30 years ago, in less time.

Singer, himself, came second to that record when he knocked out Sammy Mandell in one minute and 46 seconds.

And now, he plunges off his throne in 40 seconds less time.

Holder of Second Title.

Canzoneri is the seventh man to hold a second title, joining the other ring immortals, George Dixon, Johnny Buff, Mickey Walker, Harry Greb, Johnny Dundee and Gene Tunney.

As they came out at the first bell, Singer, pale and anxious offered a feeble left at Canzoneri's head. It was more of a feeler than a punch. They went into a mixup, but did little damage to each other. Singer straightened away and shot a much stiffer left to the head.

Tony ducked and drove hard to the heart. Singer's jaw dropped, either from pain or surprise. Quick as a flash, Canzoneri hocked a left to Singer's jaw.

Fell Flat On Floor.

Singer's head went back as if it had been jerked by a spring. As he tottered, Canzoneri, despite what he says himself, hooked another left, flush to the mouth, and Singer plunged full length on his face.

He lay exactly as he had been floored by Jimmy McLarnin. And oddly enough, he rubbed the back of his neck and head as he had done that night. Then he lay so still. Little Hymie Caplin, in his corner, was deathly pale. It couldn't be. Not out again—not the title gone?

But it was to be. At "seven," Singer got up in a strange, lop-sided way. Dead eyes, and limbs more dead. He suddenly leaped up into the air as if to awaken himself.

Collapsed In Huddle.

As his feet returned to the floor, they buckled under him, and he collapsed in a sickening huddle under the lower rope in Canzoneri's corner. He rolled out to the edge of the platform, and would have landed in tre press row had not the scribes on that side of the ring pushed him back. Singer got up, but outside the ropes. Ten had been counted by now.

Al was on his chair now, beaten, broken, yet possibly knowing he had entered the long and endless list of ex-champions.

WILDCAT READY CLAW BADGERS

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 15—(AP)—Northwestern's victory-sleek Wildcat today was crouched for its biggest effort of the Big Ten gridiron season—an assault on Wisconsin, victory in which meant no less than a tie for the 1930 championship. The game attracted a capacity crowd of 48,000.

Not since 1926 has Northwestern come as close to the title, and Coach Dick Hanley's Wildcat with its high hopes dependent on the outcome acted more like a starved animal, than one with six straight kills —Tulane, Ohio State, Centre, Minnesota, Illinois and Indiana.

Although lacking the expert passing services of Pug Renter, Northwestern had Hanley and Bruder to throw aerials and was a sizeable favorite to overcome the Badgers. Wisconsin, however, has been on the verge of going somewhere ever since its last big success, that overwhelming victory over Pennslvania early in the campaign, and was counted upon to give Northwestern an interesting afternoon.

This year's meeting between Northwestern and Notre Dame is the ninth. Northwestern won, 2 to 0, in 1901. In 1903 they tied 0 to 0.
